The War Today

By GUY RHOADES

ONE MORE

General Francisco Franco, Falangist ruler of Spain, today dipped an oar tentatively into the war picture by asserting that it was his mission to fulfill the will of Queen Isabella and restore Gibraltar to Spain.

Francisco asserted he had an army of 2,000,000 ready to back up what he considered Spain's aspirations, which include expansion in Africa and the conservation of national unity.

The little general who has aped the axis rulers since his seizure of power after a bitter civil war in which they helped him with men, arms and aircraft, apparently feels he can show his gratitude by exercising a bit of nuisance value.

THE ROCK

Spain long ago was reported to have placed big guns at Algeciras, across the bay from "Gib" and on the north African coast, across the straits.

Capture of the 1,396-foot high "rock" would undoubtedly be of considerable assistance to the axis partners in the Mediterranean, where Italy's navy appears helpless in the face of the British Mediterranean fleet, but the operation would be a considerable one.

SIEGE

Gibraltar, virtually a city inside a giant rock, was captured by a joint British-Netherlands force in 1704. The Spaniards, last time they tried to take it, besieged it without success for three years and seven months, from 1779 to 1783.

Undoubtedly a modern siege would inflict more damage than the former Spanish attempt, if only because of the greater weight and greater striking power of modern artillery. British authorities showed they placed some credence in Spanish gestures by telling persons useless in a military sense to leave as soon as possible.

Francisco has been reported preparing for action against Britain for several days. One of his gestures, it was said, would be sequestration of the Rio Tinto copper mines, among the world's richest, which are owned by British capital.

BOMBING

While the world watched Spain's little Caesar for further signs that he would implement this intention, Germany renewed air assaults on Britain. Two raids took place and five persons were killed. One Nazi dive-bomber turned machine guns on villagers in England after it had run out of bombs.

Yesterday's lull in aerial warfare apparently was mutual as the Royal Air Force reported it had conducted no bombing raids on Germany because of bad weather.

LUCKY FRIDAY?

There were continued vague rumors that Germany planned an invasion attempt tomorrow night, apparently because, so far, Friday has been Hitler's lucky day.

Prime Minister Churchill, however, indicated the government placed little credence in the imminence of such an attempt when he told the House of Commons today a wholesale exodus of children from the United Kingdom was undesirable and unjustified from a military standpoint.

Mob in Madrid Shouts for Gibraltar

MADRID (AP)—A crowd of Falangists (Fascists) demonstrated here today on the fourth anniversary of Gen. Francisco Franco's military uprising.

The demonstration, claimed by some to number 200,000, shouted "Gibraltar is Spanish" and other slogans.

A broadcast speech was delivered by Gerardo Salvador Marni, a Falangist official, who declared that labor now is unconditionally at Franco's orders, "ready to overcome all opposition, either with arms or with the tools of labor."

"The democratic plutocracies prevented our development at the end of the war," he said. "Their economic Gibraltar is in Spain. We are ready to fight against the enemy within or without whenever the Caudillo (Franco) believes the moment has arrived."

Wait Word From Entombed

Hundreds of relatives of more than three-score miners trapped in shafts of the Sonman Shaft Coal Mine, near Portage, Pa., crowd every vantage point outside entrance to the mine awaiting word from the entombed men. A few hours after this picture was taken bodies of the 62 trapped victims were recovered. (Acme telephoto.)

Final Bulletins

U.S. IN WAR BY CHRISTMAS?

OTTAWA (CP)—G. Howard Ferguson, former Canadian High Commissioner to London and former Ontario Conservative Premier, said in an interview here today that the United States will be in the war before Christmas if President Roosevelt is re-elected for a third term.

Debate Barred

OTTAWA (CP)—An expected debate in the Senate concerning the question of Canada's relation to the Pan-American Conference was quashed this afternoon when Government Leader Dandurand said: "I think it is not a matter to be discussed at the present time."

Barrel Sweepstakes

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Tickets for the "floating barrel sweepstakes" of Mayor Fred Hume, on which guesses will be sold for the time it takes a large keg to float 200 miles down the Fraser River, will go on sale in about a week.

The barrel will be launched at Lytton on Labor Day, and will bob down stream to the Pattullo Bridge.

Wheat Sale Plan

EDMONTON (CP)—A proposal that the Dominion Government through the Canadian Wheat Board undertake to "purchase and market the wheat crop of western Canada for the duration of the war," has been made to Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, federal minister of trade and commerce, by the Alberta government, Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture, announced this afternoon.

Prorogation in August

OTTAWA (CP)—Government Leader Dandurand in the Senate this afternoon prophesied prorogation of Parliament would take place on August 3.

The discussions of the unemployment insurance bill now before the House of Commons he believed would require Parliament to sit at least until that date and possibly longer.

Crops Badly Damaged

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Hail and wind, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain, caused widespread damage in this area last night, destroying crops and disrupting communications, a partial survey showed this afternoon.

An accurate estimate of the total damage done was not immediately available, as telephone lines were down in all parts of the district.

NAZI BASES BOMBED

LONDON (CP)—Strong forces of British bombers were seen heading across the Channel tonight, apparently bound for German-held French air bases. A short time later the sky in the vicinity of Boulogne was spotted with a burst of anti-aircraft shells.

DESTROYER LOST

LONDON (AP)—The Admiralty announced tonight the destroyer Imogen had been lost as the result of a collision in dense fog.

The announcement said 17 sailors were missing and it was feared they were dead. One officer and 10 other sailors were injured, one fatally.

The Imogen, 1,370 tons, was launched in 1936 and carried a normal crew of 145.

Clemens to U.B.C.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Dr. R. E. Foerster, member of the scientific staff of the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission here, has been appointed director of the Pacific biological station at Nanaimo. It was announced here this afternoon by Dr. W. F. Thompson, director of the commission.

Dr. Foerster, a graduate of the University of British Columbia in 1921, succeeds Dr. W. A. Clemens, who is joining the faculty of the university as head of the Department of Zoology.

BLOCKADE HEAD—Head of a party of Japanese army, navy and civil officers to station themselves in Indo-China is Maj. Gen. Isaku Nishihara. They'll observe workings of a Japanese-French agreement that war materials will not be shipped China from French Indo-China.

NANAIMO M.P. JOINS AIR FORCE

By NORMAN MacLEOD

OTTAWA—Alan Chambers, M.P. for Nanaimo, has enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force. He will be granted leave from the House of Commons within the next few days and will report for training, probably at one of the Ontario air force camps. He has been passed by the medical board and accepted.

Mr. Chambers' office room-mate in the Parliament Buildings, A. J. LaPointe, M.P. for Matane, Que., enlisted last month in the Canadian army for service overseas.

Premier Defends Brockington

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King assured the House of Commons this afternoon his radio and other public addresses were not written by L. W. Brockington, K.C., Winnipeg, attached to the Prime Minister's office to record various aspects of Canada's war effort.

Mr. King made a spirited defence of Mr. Brockington who, he said, was the only important staff addition to his office since the war started. "He is a gentleman of wide experience of affairs, an able counsellor, widely informed on public matters, and is rendering Canada an exceptional service at this time," the Prime Minister said.

Discussion of Mr. Brockington came up when Conservative leader Hanson suggested an answer to a question, given yesterday and indicating no Canadian war historian had been appointed, was misleading. Mr. Hanson said it was his impression a war historian had been appointed.

Mr. King said there had been no desire to mislead the House. The question referred to had not mentioned Mr. Brockington and the statement that no historian had been appointed was correct. Later, when Mr. Hanson was

F.D.R. to Accept Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt probably will accept the Democratic Convention's nomination for a third term in a radio address tonight, but the White House said today he was still reserving his decision until he received official notification of the convention's action.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters the notification committee might delay informing the President until such a time as the Vice-Presidential selection also has been made.

(In Chicago this afternoon Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National Committee, disclosed Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt would appear before the Democratic Convention here tonight "after the President's speech." Mrs. Roosevelt this afternoon was flying from New York to Chicago.)

WALLACE LEADS

CHICAGO (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, was reported this afternoon to have President Roosevelt's favor for the Vice-Presidential nomination of the 1940 Democratic ticket.

This word circulated after the special committee named to notify President Roosevelt of his renomination had been in telephonic communication with the White House.

The President's convention leaders were reported to have

Scene in the Chicago Stadium as delegates to the 28th Democratic National Convention nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt for a third term as President of the United States and, it is expected, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace for the vice-presidency. Signs of States line the centre aisle of the stadium. assured Mr. Roosevelt they had already received sufficient pledges of support to bring about the nomination of his choice for his running mate.

Mr. Wallace was said to have been selected by the President after Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, chairman of the notification committee and one of Mr.

Roosevelt's convention leaders, had talked personally with the President. (See Roosevelt nomination story on Page 2.)

Churchill on Japan Crisis:

Canada Informed by Britain Before Yielding Burma Road

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill defended in the House of Commons today Great Britain's yielding to Japan through an accord closing the Burma Road, asserting Britain must be moved "by the dominant fact that we are engaged in a life and death struggle."

He offered in effect British "collaboration" for a compromise settlement of the Japanese-Chinese war. However, he made it clear that the aims of each belligerent must be attained "by a process of peace and conciliation and not by war or threat of war."

3 Months Given As Testing Time

He said the government of Burma had agreed to the suspension for three months of the transport of ammunition, gasoline, trucks and railway material and that the same categories would be prohibited from transit through Hongkong, where he said the export of arms and ammunition has been prohibited since January, 1939.

Mr. Churchill added Britain was not unmindful of her obligations to China, but was bound to have regard to the present world situation.

"We have persistently asserted our desire to see assured to China a free and independent future and we have as frequently expressed our desire to improve our relations with Japan," he said.

"To achieve these objectives two things were essential—time and a relief of tension. On the one hand, it was clear the tension was rapidly growing owing to the Japanese complaints about the passage of war material by the Burma route. On the other, to agree to the permanent closure of the route would be to default from our obligations as a neutral friendly power to China."

"What we have therefore made is a temporary arrangement in the hope that the time so gained may lead to a solution just and equitable to both."

No New Quarrel Sought in East

"We wish for no quarrel with any nation in the Far East. We desire to see Chinese status and integrity preserved and, as was indicated in our note of January 14, 1939, we are ready to negotiate with the Chinese government, after the conclusion of peace, the abolition of extraterritorial rights, the rendition of concessions and the revision of treaties on the basis of reciprocity and equality."

"We wish to see Japan attain that state of prosperity which will ensure to her population the welfare and economic security which every Japanese naturally desires."

Mr. Churchill said Britain was prepared to offer "our collaboration and contribution" to the attainment of the aims of both China and Japan through conciliation.

Imposed Peace Not Planned

To a request for a full dress debate on Far Eastern questions, Mr. Churchill replied it might be arranged after next week.

Further questions drew from the Prime Minister a statement that Britain has no desire to impose peace on China.

Leslie Hore-Bellish, National Liberal, asked if Mr. Churchill was satisfied that this concession would in fact secure Japan's good will and whether the United States and Russia had been consulted.

The Prime Minister replied: "I can give no such assurance. I do not know at all. I think that all that happens to us in the Far East is very much likely to be influenced by what happens over here, to which our attention at the moment must be directed."

Consider Interests Of U.S. and Russia

"Naturally we have made sure that what we have done has not been done without taking into full consideration the attitude of the two very important great powers mentioned."

In the House of Lords Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, made a statement similar to Mr. Churchill's and, replying to a question from Lord Marley as to whether Prime Minister Mackenzie King had been consulted before the decision was reached, said Canada had been "kept fully informed of what His Majesty's government had in mind."

He added the British ambassadors to the United States and Russia also had been informed of the government's decisions.

New York Explosion

NEW YORK (AP)—Police headquarters received a report that one of three men walking on Fifth Avenue between 68th and 69th Streets this afternoon hurled a package over the Central Park wall and that an explosion ensued.

Officers said the blast tore a one-foot hole in the stone wall. They found what appeared to be the top and bottom of some sort of metal container.

The report said the three men crossed Fifth Avenue after the explosion and boarded a north-bound bus.

Mayor LaGuardia hurried to the scene.

Convicts Refuse Food

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nearly 100 convicts at Alcatraz prison, refused portions of their meals today and officials said that "while nothing untoward has happened" they were keeping a close watch on the situation. Approximately 250 prisoners are on the island in San Francisco Bay.

Warden James Johnston said the partial hunger strike began Monday.

"They are doing their work and nothing's occurred," he said, "but the manner in which the incident began and has been carried on leaves little doubt that there is collusion and that each knew what the other was doing."

Time, Some Time, May Get Through

By NORMAN MacLEOD

OTTAWA—Government officials here deny that while other magazines have been coming through freely, this week's issue of Time magazine has been delayed by unnecessary red tape. A news article Time published two weeks ago from its Ottawa correspondent, reported shortages and instances of lack of co-ordination in the defence department, which the authorities reportedly did not want the Canadian people to know about, although the facts had been known and published outside.

Officials said today there had been difficulty over arranging payment of Time's 10 per cent war exchange tax, but the matter was being straightened out.

HERTZOG SCORES REPUBLIC MOVE

CAPETOWN, South Africa (CP)—General J. B. M. Hertzog, who was forced out as prime minister last September when parliament rejected his proposal of neutrality in the war, publicly declined today to become associated with Nationalist extremist plans for a mass meeting "to consider active constitutional steps to establish a republic."

Hull Heads Group From U.S. on Trip To Havana Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Cordell Hull led a United States delegation southward today for the second inter-American conference since the war set in motion efforts to insulate the western hemisphere against military and economic threats from abroad.

The party, including trade, agriculture and monetary experts, in addition to State Department officials, is due in Miami, Fla., tomorrow afternoon. They will embark there on the overnight boat for Havana, where the conference of foreign ministers will open Sunday.

High on the agenda is the question of new world possessions, owned by countries overrun or threatened with invasion by Germany.

PROTECTORATES

Involved in initial exchanges among the 21 American republics are proposals for Pan-American mandates or protectorates over regions whose sovereignty, in the words of the agenda, "is relinquished, lapses or is materially impaired."

Some plan for preventing direct or indirect use of these regions by the axis powers as military or economic bases is reported to be viewed favorably by some, if not all, of the American republics.

Nazi political activities already troubling some of the Latin American governments promise to bring concerted action at Havana, possibly similar to the stricter immigration and alien-control police measures already adopted in the United States.

HUGE ARMS PLAN

The $10,000,000,000 rearmament program of the United States is the big talking-point of this country's delegation in efforts to enlist co-operation of other American nations in the common cause of an impregnable hemisphere defence.

Absence of any military experts on the United States delegation indicates strictly military questions will be omitted from conference consideration. Suggestions this country acquires strategic air or fleet bases in Latin America could be discussed in general terms, however, under the agenda.

American dollars also are behind United States efforts to win full support of the other republics for measures to protect New World economy against the spreading autarchic methods in Europe.

Whether President Roosevelt's projected "cartel" for disposal of surplus western hemisphere commodities will come formally before the conference remains uncertain. But economic discussions are expected to centre on United States financial leadership in some form of control of American exports to which European markets are now closed by the war.

U.S. President Drafted for 3rd Term

Democrats Demand F.D.R. Run Again

By W. B. RAGSALE

CHICAGO (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt was renominated for President early today by a Democratic national convention which, with a thunderous disregard for precedent, flung aside the 144-year-old two-term tradition.

Ignoring the President's message that he had no "desire or purpose" to be a candidate, the delegates gave him 946 13-30 votes on a first ballot roll call to a collective 149 1-15 for four other candidates as follows: Farley, 72 27-30; Garner, 61; Tydings, 94; Hull, 5 2-3.

Each of the others quickly removed himself from the field and the nomination was made unanimous.

A smashing majority of the convention's 1,100 votes had been cast for the President, to the clamor of the delegates and the jammed galleries. Before the result could be announced, James A. Farley, once a third-term foe, a candidate himself, announced his support for the ticket, and moved that the rules be suspended and the President be acclaimed the party's nominee.

Support Promised By Jim Farley

"I am grateful to those delegates to this convention who voted for me and to those delegates who would have voted for me if they had not been otherwise pledged," the smiling Farley told the delegates.

"I want this great convention of Democrats to know that I will give that same support to the nominees of this convention."

Farley's motion was seconded by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts and Senator Tydings of Maryland. Representative Rayburn of Texas already had turned Texas' 46 votes from Vice-President Garner to Mr. Roosevelt.

The Farley motion went through on a roaring voice vote that made most of the convention's previous shoutings seem puny, and Chairman Alben Barkley declared the President to be the convention's unanimous choice as its nominee.

Then the convention sat down to wait for Mr. Roosevelt's reply to the appeal that he run again. Senator Robert Wagner of New York during the evening had read the platform and elicited applause Together as the Democratic convention opened, Franklin D. Roosevelt, nominated by acclamation for a third term, James A. Farley who passed his 72-27-30 votes over to make it unanimous.

when he read sections praising President Roosevelt and approving the legislation enacted under the New Deal, promising a continuance of its principles. He got another rise out of the foreign affairs section, which said:

"We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our army, naval or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside the Americas, except in case of attack. We favor and shall rigorously enforce the Monroe doctrine."

Representative Elmer Ryan of Minnesota got the first sample of the convention mood a moment later. He offered a resolution opposing a third term, but the last words were drowned in a storm of "boos."

The convention then dived straight into the business of nominating a presidential candidate.

Senator Lister Hill of Alabama climbed through the crowd to the speakers' stand.

"If America is to survive," he said, "we must now give the best there is in us and in the cause of freedom and law and justice 1 place in nomination that valiant American, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Delegates Shout For 23 Minutes

Hill stepped back, and the stadium floor became a mass of shouting, dancing, pushing delegates.

After 23 minutes of uproar the convention chairman, Senator Barkley, ordered the call of states to continue.

Arizona yielded to Virginia, and the 82-year-old Senator Carter Glass proposed the nomination of James A. Farley.

Down the roll the clerk went. Governor Cuthbert Olson of California, Senator Francis Mahoney of Connecticut and Senator Claude Pepper of Florida seconded the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt. Chairmen of many state delegations announced support for Mr. Roosevelt.

one Welsh town, where bombs tore holes in buildings, blew out every window and uprooted trees.

The blasts tossed sidewalk blocks over buildings and threw earth as high as the top of a church steeple.

MONTHLY REPORTS

Future air raid casualties will be announced monthly in the House of Commons and press, Prime Minister Churchill said today.

All civilian casualties will be listed at local centres as soon as ascertained, he said, but individual or aggregate publication in the press will be forbidden.

Mr. Churchill took responsibility for the decision, saying daily publication would give the Germans military information.

'Evacuation of Children Unwarranted'—Churchill

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that "nothing in the nature of a large-scale exodus of children from this country to the Dominions and the United States should take place, and I do not believe the military situation requires or justifies such a proceeding, having regard to the relative dangers of going and staying, nor in fact is it physically possible."

He added that what offers of homes overseas are accepted will be shared fairly by rich and poor.

Growth of Demands Not Foreseen

"I must frankly admit that the full bearings of this question were not appreciated by the British government at the time it first was raised," he said.

"It was not foreseen that the mild countenance given to this plan would lead to a movement of such dimensions, and that a crop of alarmist and depressing rumors would follow at its tail, detrimental to the interests of national defence."

"I take full responsibility for the steps originally taken, and I ask for the indulgence of the House on account of the many difficulties through which we have been passing."

The prime minister's statement was prompted by F. S. Cocks, Labor, who asked if, in view of the fact that large scale evacuation of children overseas was an important factor in the military defence of Britain, the government would reconsider its decision to postpone the scheme.

Mr. Cocks suggested it should be borne in mind that children could be evacuated in ships already conveyed.

The prime minister emphasized the scheme had been postponed, not abandoned.

Any further emigration that may be possible, he continued, will be regulated with a view to restoring balance between the classes and not in pursuance of any policy of reducing the number of persons in "this well defended island."

Asked if it were not possible to send small parties of 50 in convoyed ships, Mr. Churchill replied, "It may be, but I could not give a guarantee as to the times and numbers."

Soviet Union Clamor

MOSCOW (AP)—A demonstration of 50,000 Estonian workers "clamoring" for incorporation of their country in the Soviet Union, was described today in a dispatch to Pravda, organ of the Communist Party.

The report from Tallinn, capital of the Baltic state, said the demonstrators swarmed through the streets, waving banners reading "Long Live Stalin," "Long Live the Soviet of Estonia," and "Proletariat of all Countries, Unite!"

(Advice received in Stockholm today said the parliaments of the three Baltic countries were expected to declare formal union with Moscow at simultaneous sessions next Tuesday.)

Canadian Corps Going to Britain?

OTTAWA (CP)—An army corps, officered, manned, financed and supplied entirely from Canada came a step closer to realization when Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton was placed in command of a corps formed around the 1st Overseas Division.

While the corps will at first include British troops, they will be replaced by Canadian troops as and when more Canadians are ready for service and sent to the United Kingdom.

To start with, however, the corps will be built around the 1st Overseas Division and the ancillary troops which were sent to Britain in anticipation of the formation of the Canadian Corps.

An army corps consists normally of two to four divisions. The Canadian corps in the first Great War consisted of four divisions from August, 1916, to the end of the war.

It is expected Gen. McNaughton's corps will consist of three divisions and that eventually the 2nd Division, now partly in Canada and partly overseas, and the 3rd Division, in process of training in Canada, will comprise it.

Organization of the 1st Division has been complete for months, organization of the 2nd Division is well advanced and while the units comprising the 3rd Division have been recruited no divisional headquarters has yet been established.

O'Duffy Banned

BELFAST (CP)—Gen. Eoin O'Duffy, former chief of staff of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, who led an Irish brigade to fight with the Nationalists in the Spanish civil war, has been ordered to leave Northern Ireland.

He visited Enniskillen in Fermanagh County to attend the funeral services of the wife of Cahill Healy, former member of parliament. Police told him in charge. He was told if he returned to Northern Ireland he would be imprisoned.

Reason for his expulsion was not discussed.

Airmen Graduate

TORONTO (CP)—Third class to graduate from the No. 1 initial training school at the Eglinton Hunt Club here since its inauguration several months ago, approximately 500 airmen of the Royal Canadian Air Force will leave the school Saturday. They will be detailed to training units in various parts of Canada.

Board Explains Money Rules For Travel Abroad

OTTAWA (CP)—The Foreign Exchange Control Board has issued a statement describing in detail some purposes for which export of funds may be permitted for travel abroad by Canadians.

Early this month it was announced by the government that United States funds cannot be sold or the export of Canadian dollars permitted for travel for purely pleasure purposes in the United States and other countries outside the sterling area.

The following legitimate purposes are recognized by the Foreign Exchange Control Board for which export of funds for travel should be permitted:

1. Emergency cases: Canadian banks have been given authority to approve permits in cases of extreme urgency, such as sudden accident or illness, where it is essential to start the journey immediately.

2. Business transactions: Canadian banks have authority to deal with applications respecting necessary business travel by employees of Canadian companies.

The amount of money must be confined to that which is necessary for business purposes and no authority is given for the extension of a trip for pleasure purposes nor for the travel of members of the family of the person making the trip.

Companies having large business travel expenditures in the United States are being requested to submit budgets for examination by the board.

3. Travel for health purposes: Permits will be granted wherever it is necessary for a person to go to the United States for special medical attention. Proof of necessity must be submitted, but all bona fide applications will be approved.

SPECIAL TRAINING

4. Travel for education, scientific training and similar purposes: The board will approve applications under this heading where such travel is necessary in order that the applicant may obtain a type of training or education which is not available in Canada.

Sympathetic consideration will be given to all cases where the applicant desires to take a post-graduate university course or to obtain special scientific or technical training.

Permits will not be granted, however, merely to attend school in the United States or to take an ordinary undergraduate university course, unless special circumstances are present which make it necessary for the applicant to obtain his education in the United States.

5. Personal affairs: The board recognizes various cases in which it is necessary for purely personal reasons that a resident of Canada should make a trip to the United States, such as where a close relative is seriously ill, or where the Canadian concerned is being married in the United States, or must go to the United States to settle an estate.

All the cases of this type cannot be enumerated and each application must be considered on its merits.

DELEGATES TO ASSEMBLIES

6. International conventions: Permits will be granted to enable Canadian delegates to attend conventions of recognized international organizations. All applications are desired to be centralized through the Canadian headquarters of the organization and to relate only to the persons whose presence is required at the meetings.

7. Transit through the United States: In certain cases, particularly for travel by automobile, it is necessary for Canadians proceeding from one point in Canada to another to pass through the United States, and permits will be granted for the necessary funds in such cases.

It must be shown to the satisfaction of the board that it is necessary to go through the United States either because no road exists in Canada or because to make the entire journey in Canada would require an unreasonable increase in the distance to be covered.

DAILY CROSSINGS

8. International commuters: Special arrangements are being made in the case of international commuters, that is persons who reside in Canada but are employed in the United States and cross the border daily.

It is intended to provide a special permit so that such persons will not have to obtain individual permits on each occasion, but may take a moderate amount of money with them in order to meet any necessary expenditures in connection with their employment.

The board pointed out that the restrictions apply not only to the direct expenditure of United States funds, but also to indirect expenditures through the export of Canadian funds.

Changes His Mind

MONTREAL (CP)—Archdeacon A. P. Gower-Rees, rector of St. George's Anglican Church here, has decided to remain in Montreal instead of going to British Columbia as dean of the diocese of New Westminster and rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver. "I have been persuaded that I might be of greater service here in the present critical circumstances than farther away in the west," the archdeacon said.

German Arrested

BALBOA, Canal Zone (AP)—Dr. Emil Wolff, 52, German chemist, who admitted in magistrate's court here yesterday he had sailed from San Francisco with a trunk of Nazi diplomatic papers without registering as a German courier, has been charged with failing to file a registration statement with the State Department showing he is a German government agent and with failing to notify the State Department that he was acting as a courier of the German consulate at San Francisco.

Franco Says He Wants Gibraltar

MADRID (AP)—The fourth anniversary today of the outbreak of the Spanish civil war which brought Gen. Franco to power served as his sounding board for a declaration that Spain expects to regain the rock of Gibraltar from Britain.

In an anniversary speech last night to his officers, Franco officially endorsed renewed clamor of students and Falangists (Spanish Nationalists) for the fortress and British naval base commanding the entrance to the Mediterranean Sea.

It is the "duty and mission" of his regime, Franco said, to realize historic aims of Queen Isabella—to make Gibraltar again Spanish, to expand in Africa and to conserve the national unity.

The towering rock, regained by Spain from the Moors in the 15th century, has been under British control since its capture in 1704 during the war of Spanish succession.

Twice since then the Spaniards have laid siege to the fortress unsuccessfully.

Franco took occasion in his speech to declare Spain has "2,000,000 soldiers ready to face anyone and to support Spain's rights."

Along with summaries of Franco's speech, Madrid newspapers published a dispatch from Milan, Italy, purportedly quoting the governor of Gibraltar as telling persons ordered to leave that stronghold that "Sooner or later we'll have to go."

Informed quarters described Franco's speech as a step along a carefully-planned campaign to prepare the Spanish for action to come, as well as serving notice of Spain's intentions.

The intention is, it was said, to make clear to warring nations that Spain will demand consideration in postwar settlement.

B.C. Gives $135,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada's Salvation Army, having undertaken to perform a greater task in this war than in the last, is far ahead in organization compared with the 1914-1918 conflict, according to Lieut.-Col. H. C. Tuttle, national secretary of public relations, now here on an inspection tour from Toronto.

The army has raised $1,257,000 in its recent national campaign, said Lieut.-Col. Tuttle, of which $135,000 was given by British Columbia.

Following the garden party held this afternoon by W.A. Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, at the home of Mrs. R. Spouse, 1411 Arm Street, a card social will be held this evening at 8 at the above address, after which refreshments will be served.

No Recommendation

VANCOUVER (CP)—The metropolitan health committee has voted against recommending compulsory pasteurization of milk sold in Vancouver, after hearing arguments presented over a long period by advocates of raw and treated milk.

"All we can do anyway is to make recommendations to the various municipal councils and I doubt if they would take any action," said George T. Cunningham, a committeeman who introduced the motion to table the subject.

To Speed Collections

OTTAWA (CP)—Notice has appeared on the House of Commons votes and proceedings of an act to amend the act respecting debts due to the crown. Sponsored by Finance Minister Isley, it is believed designed to strengthen the hands of the government in collecting moneys due it.

The act to be amended was passed in 1932 and empowers the government to withhold from amounts payable by the treasury to any persons, corporations or municipalities any sums due to the government from such persons or bodies.

Rev. Dr. Reisner Dies in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Christian F. Reisner, 68, a former city editor who became one of the best-known clergymen and church builders in the United States by applying the principles of advertising to religion, died last night in a hospital here.

Pastor of the $3,500,000 Broadway Temple Methodist Episcopal Church, Dr. Reisner, who originated billboard advertising for churches, underwent a gallstone operation June 4. He suffered a relapse last Friday.

Before he was ordained in 1896, he had been a reporter and city editor on the Atchison Daily Champion.

Dr. Reisner was the first president of the church advertising department of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

The widow and a son, Rev. Ensworth Reisner, pastor of the Strathmore Methodist Church in Detroit, survive him.

By Acclamation

WHEN THE HISTORIAN SITS DOWN IN a calm atmosphere at some distant date to write our neighbor's political history of these times, and he will have plenty of material, he may describe the Democratic Convention in Chicago in this year of grace 1940 as one of the most remarkable incidents in the public life of the United States since the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The very thing at which former Presidents have shied with something akin to horror, toward which both parties have similarly shown the most biting type of repugnance, happened as it had been predicted it would happen by those realists who could see no other way out. Nor did the thousand odd delegates assembled in the great stadium appear to manifest the slightest qualms as they boisterously ignored the almost sacred practice of tradition. They wanted Roosevelt; Roosevelt they were determined to have; and they finally got him by acclamation.

When the Republican convention selected Mr. Wendell Willkie to carry the party colors the political world of the United States witnessed the accomplishment of what the "machine managers" considered the impossible. Here was a man, without experience in public office, apparently "green" to the traditional usage adopted by men who seek it, literally pitchedforked into the battle for the Presidency of the wealthiest country extant. He was not exactly a "dark horse." He had the advantage of what is known as a build-up and had carefully preserved from his former collection of democratic beliefs those closely resembling the international outlook practiced by President Roosevelt.

True, the Republican convention delegates presented Mr. Willkie with a domestic "platform" as well as with an endorsement of his concept of American responsibility toward the menace of totalitarianism; but as one nomination followed the other it soon became evident to those present that next November's decision will be largely reached on outside considerations. Mr. Roosevelt's acceptance—practically certain—will resolve the campaign into one between two men who think as one in regard to the all-engrossing problem of the moment. The present incumbent at the White House has had more than seven years of experience; the demonstration at Chicago last night was befitting a party resolve to defy political tradition. Franklin Delano Roosevelt should be off to a flying start in every respect.

The Havana Meeting

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND'S LIBERAL Senator J. J. Hughes is of the opinion that Canada should become a member of the Pan-American Union. He said so in the Upper Chamber at Ottawa yesterday; he also heard government leader Senator Raoul Dandurand announce that Canada would not be represented at the meeting of this important body—to begin at Havana next Sunday.

There are certain obvious reasons why the time may not be propitious for a full dress discussion as to why this country should or should not consider membership in this union of 21 republics. Canada's association with the British Empire—now even more solid than the rock of Gibraltar—may be cited as the principal one. Active participation in the proceedings of the Pan-American body naturally would involve obligations that might cause political misunderstandings; in any case, Canada has not been invited, and there is little likelihood that either the United States or any other member of the union will move in that direction for the time being.

There are also two specific reasons why the possibility of future membership in the Pan-American Union might profitably be discussed informally by Canadian public men without regard to political or any other predilection. Within the next few years—earlier, perhaps, than some of us may realize—it will be necessary for this country to take an active part in the development of such hemispherical economic influence as this whole continent eventually will be required to exercise in world affairs, not only in its own interests but also because of changing international relationships as they apply to at least one part of the universe which is doing its utmost to retain some semblance of its reputation for living peacefully. The other consideration involves the possibility, or practicability, of a form of union between the English-speaking nations to which the final disposition of the present chaotic state of the world may conceivably bring emphasis.

While Senator Hughes' suggestion that Canada become a member of the Union may not have won a great deal of support—Prince Edward Islanders are noteworthy for their great contributions to Canada's progress—it may have the effect of focussing attention on next week's meeting in the Cuban capital. We take it, however, that the Dominion government has arranged to have its own competent observer on the spot. It is essential Mr. King and his colleagues be supplied with an accurate account of what goes on in public—and behind the scenes.

To figure the extra cost of being away from home for the summer, count your back windows and multiply by the number of air rifles in the neighborhood.

His Due

ALL CANADIANS HEARD WITH CONSIDERABLE satisfaction the news that Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton had been promoted and that he is to take command of a British army corps—which will include, however, the men from Canada. His record in the last war, his most efficient and valuable work on the National Research Council, coupled with the yeoman service he has rendered to this Dominion and its war effort to date, thoroughly entitled him to the higher rank of Lieutenant-General and the distinction which is now to go with it.

After all they have heard about him, after all they have read about him since he has been in Britain, Canadians everywhere will watch General McNaughton's future activities with the keenest interest. Other peoples of the Empire by this time know what he looks like, know something of his achievements in the calling of his choice; and they see in that firm jaw, that shock of unruly hair, that pair of penetrating eyes, a physiognomic combination betokening the stern resolve which these times require. We shall hear much more of Lieutenant-General A. G. L. McNaughton.

Totalitarian Verbiage

WERE THE INEVITABLE CONSEQUENCES not so tragic, and there is no disposition to minimize them, some of the "announcements" from the totalitarian states in regard to the projected invasion of Great Britain might be classified as humorous. The latest suggestion is that the Fuehrer is anxious to place before the world his pet plan for a new order in Europe—an opportunity for the people of the British Isles to choose between surrender and destruction. We are told he favors this gesture, because if Britain refuses to countenance it and continues the war, she will be charged with seeking to balk Hitler's program of "amelioration."

We rather like the word "amelioration." It fits in nicely with the terms employed by Mussolini's journalistic mouthpiece, Signor Gayda, in an article in Il Giornale d'Italia the other day. In it this imaginative editor warned Britain she was about to be presented with her last account, that she would be required to choose between submission to the renovating, restorative forces of Europe and the fateful, precipitous step toward final overthrow—in short, "inevitable destruction." What neither Herr Hitler nor Signor Mussolini seems to realize, however, is that while Britain is getting all this verbal absent treatment she is preparing for the "final" and utilizing all the advantages which come of being able to play it on "her own ground."

Dogs

THERE HAVE BEEN REPORTS OF plans for wholesale evacuation of dogs from Britain to America; but these have not been substantiated by the Kennel Club in England. In a few cases, back as far as last autumn, kennels were brought across the Atlantic to carry on breeding during the war. Mostly, however, there seems little desire on the part of owners of purebred dogs in England to get rid of their stock. Recent mail indicate things are going fairly well for dogs over there. Food for them is still plentiful and cheap. Difficulties not experienced in the transfer of comparatively small numbers of horses overseas, would be encountered in any attempt at mass evacuation of dogs. Necessary quarantine regulations, enforcing isolation on dogs for as long as six months, alone present an almost insuperable barrier. Altogether, it looks as if British dogs, unlike blooded horses and an increasing number of children, will stay home and take their chances with their masters for the duration. As to the danger of extinction of many breeds through widespread destruction of dogs by owners who feared the eventual inhuman death of their pets, dog breeders have no concern. All the breeds recognized by the British stud book are well represented on this continent. In fact, many experts agree that the stock on this side of the Atlantic is better than that left in England.

CONTROLLING THE NEWS

From Vancouver News Herald
Senator McGeigh raised a moot point when he warned that rigid control of radio's access to the reports of independent news agencies might eventually lead also to control of the press.

There have been indications that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is shortly to assert direct control of all news broadcasting. It may be desirable in wartime that there should be control of radio news broadcasting just as there is censorship of the press; but it is desirable that all news broadcasting be confined to one or two standard networks rigidly edited by a governmental corporation? The Senator fears that it is just a step from indirect control of the news agency to control of the press. And so it is. In Germany and in Italy, the instant totalitarian regimes took over they immediately transformed the existing news agencies into a branch of the government, a division of the propaganda ministries.

Newspapers, radio and news agencies should be subject to censorship in wartime, but it should be a limited censorship based on the need to keep vital military information from reaching the enemy. There should be no restriction on the free exchange of news and opinion.

Monopoly in news is not to be tolerated. It is the first step towards control of public opinion.

QUOTES

LET ME FILL THIS space today with three notable quotations from a trio of notable persons. And let Mrs. Noggins come first. "Well," said she, as I picked her up on the Saanich Road today and she proceeded to let a large case of loganberries drip like heart's blood over the upholstery of my car, "well, sir, it's a long time since I seen you, galavantin' around with them Yankees, though I suppose they can't be so bad after all in spite of what the movies make 'em on account I 'ad a cousin, Bertha, from Liverpool who married one of 'em and she 'as two cars now and a 'lectric refrigerator and no children. You can say wot you like about them Yankees but they certainly know 'ow to manage. Bertha, with two cars and a refrigerator, and me with three kids and a lot of 'ens!"

"But wot I meantsigh is wot does it matter? Since the war started I ain't got no troubles. I don't worry about nothin' no more, sir. When the 'ole world is burnin' up, wot is the use of me worryin' on account of I got no refrigerator? Why it's got now so I don't care if the old man comes 'ome at night any more and if 'e 'olts a few too many at the beer parlor, wot's the odds? When 'e comes 'ome a bit the worse, you might say I don't get mad any more. I say why, I say, there's better men dyin' on the battlefield every day. Why, I've got so I can even stand Mrs. Boggs now, and 'er wearin' shorts, showin' all 'er laigs. Wot is the use worryin', I say, about Mrs. Boggs when there's fellas loose like Hitler and Mussoloney? And I do say as the garbage Mrs. Boggs sends over for me 'ens does seem extra precious like when you think of all them folks starvin' in Europe."

"Why," said Mrs. Noggins, "this war really solves everything. You never 'ear no more about the things that always usta worry us. For 20 years I've heard about 'ow the country was goin' broke and now we're spendin' more than ever and doin' fine. We usta be on the brink of ruin every day and now we've gone over the hedge nobody cares a hoot. It's wonderful, ain't it? And they used to talk about the P.G.E. and beer and the income taxes and wot-not. But nobody worries about 'em any more. All them problems that was goin' to wreck us all, why, they've just disappeared into thin air, that's all. Wonderful, ain't it, wot a war will do? In fact, as I often say to Mr. Noggins, if the war should stop wot would we do? It would be the end of us, I'm afraid."

MONKEYS

LET ME QUOTE next an eminent member of the Roosevelt Brain Trust. This man is one of the most brilliant of that tribe imported into Washington to build the New Deal, the kind of person who gets his picture on the front page of Time, with indiscreet biographical references, and is known to everybody who can read English. For five years he has been advocating a policy of complete isolationism. He has made speeches urging the United States to keep out of Europe at all costs, and written books to prove that nothing could be done about the Old World and that America could never be endangered.

Well, looking out over the marble welter of Washington from his skyscraper, this authority said to me: "Everything I ever said was completely wrong. That is my explanation of everything—I was just wrong, that's all. We've lived through a century of history in this last three weeks and it's made a monkey out of everybody. And anybody who can tell you honestly that he thinks today just as he thought three weeks ago is just a perfect damn fool and hopeless."

This I considered the most honest utterance I had heard among the statesmen of Canada and America. I only wish some of the others would take the same line. If all our Canadian statesmen would stand up and, with hand on heart, say that they had been completely wrong, that events had made monkeys out of them, it would be good for their souls and it would re-establish public confidence in politics.

What makes the public skeptical is the attempt of our statesmen to pretend that they have been right about anything. They fear to admit the contrary, which is the truth, believing the public would lose confidence in them. My theory is that a full confession, a clean breast of it, would make everybody believe that these are honest men who can be trusted. And no man can be honest and intelligent who hasn't found himself completely shaken and discredited by the development since May 10, or else he is a fool. Therefore, don't be discouraged if your ideas have all been upset. It is a healthy and welcome sign. But if you still think as you did three months ago, see a doctor immediately.

EIGHTH GRADE

THE THIRD EMINENT personality whom I wish to quote today is the little girl from next door, who has turned up again after a long absence. "I wish," said she, "you'd turn off the radio. I'm not listening to all this silly war news any more. What's the use of learning it all now? Don't you realize that we'll have to study the whole thing in the entrance class next year? And if they keep adding more and more history to the book we've got already, how are we going to cram it all into our heads? Gosh, we've only got to Henry VIII, and now they're hoisting Hitler on us. Turn off the radio, please."

We keep wondering whether Mars is inhabited by intelligent beings, and doubtless the Martians are wondering that about the earth.

I think that we are going to see the labor movement of the United States free of all tricks, free of all crooks, free of all Communists and free of all fifth columnists.—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

SEA OF DESTINY

UNDER this title H. Dyson Carter of St. Boniface, Manitoba, has written a book which sounds the note of thunder in unexpected places. The volume is published by Greenburg, New York. Not only does it lift one corner of the lid on one of the most dramatic Canadian stories of all times—the struggle between English capitalists penetrating North America via Hudson Bay and those operating from Montreal—a struggle which involved outright wars as well as innumerable plots, intrigues and deals. It sounds what should be a clarion call of warning.

Mr. Carter gets forth much evidence to indicate that the Germans have already prepared a definite plan for the invasion of North America—that this plan calls for surprise penetration of the very heart of America via the Hudson Bay—that they will establish air bases southeast and southwest of the bay itself and from those bases strike at Winnipeg, Montreal, Chicago, Detroit, and any other large centres on the line of the objective.

What impresses me about Mr. Carter's book is that it was published months before Hitler's invasion of Norway. Yet it outlines with uncanny accuracy precisely that same type of invasion of Canada. I for one do not regard it as fantastic nonsense.

It seems to me that the world picture has changed in the last few years beyond old recognition. North America has been inclined to think of itself as stretching from sea to sea. Actually there is another and forgotten sea on the north. Destiny was decided there centuries ago. Over that sea air men have already come and gone, blazing a new trail for a new age. Some of them were cunning enough to blaze this trail for purposes of war.

EVERYBODY remembers what the Russians and the Japanese have made stunt flights linking Asia and America, and that Lindbergh and many others flew in the opposite direction. But Captain (now commander) Wolfgang von Gronau made repeated trips to America via Iceland and Greenland from 1930 to 1933. On the last occasion he flew over the whole of Canada's interior, as far north as the Mackenzie. Our obliging government permitted him to carry full photographic equipment, according to the evidence of air force officers then stationed at the seaplane base at Lac du Bonnet in Manitoba. He spent months on the job, during most of which time no one in Canada had the faintest idea of what he was doing. The author boldly declares: "The manner in which this was done makes one of the most incredible stories in the history of espionage." . . . His work and the fragmentary evidence obtained when a secret police cracked down on the Winnipeg headquarters have indicated this: That the first task of the air raiders is the destruction of Canada as a supply source for the allied powers and that the assault will be delayed until all North American production is geared up to aid the democracies. . . . Rome and

Strange Appointment

From Vancouver Sun
Sometimes the government of Mr. Mackenzie King does things which even its friends cannot understand. One of them is the appointment of Gen. LaFleche to a high post in the department of national war services as one of its two deputy ministers.

Gen. LaFleche was hurried out of the defence department about a year ago and sent to France as military attaché at the Canadian legation in Paris. He was sent because he had lost the confidence of Parliament, of the government and the public. As the Winnipeg Free Press, a strong supporter of the government, says: "During his regime in the defence department he did not command the confidence of the public, and it was due to public criticism from one end of Canada to the other that he was removed from office."

Gen. LaFleche's technical abilities we do not pretend to judge, and we do not question his private character. But in an administrative post his temperament has proved to be very unsatisfactory. Anyone who heard his frenzied outbursts before the parliamentary committee investigating the Bren gun contract realized at once that he was unsuited to hold any high rank in the civil service of Canada. Now he is back in a position of great importance. Why? When the government has shown no partisanship what

Berlin have an army of determined combatants across the Dominion, backed by numberless spies and traitors prepared to work not from without but from within. "The attack from the north will be the signal of the army of the interior to rise."

So wrote this author months before Hitler's fifth column showed its hand in Norway, Holland, Belgium and France. I AM CERTAINLY not competent to judge some of the sensational evidence Mr. Carter makes in his chapters about commercial rivalry concerning Hudson Bay, such as that ships were deliberately wrecked in order to give "the route a black eye, and retain lucrative business for competing services. But this much is certain; Hudson Bay has played a decisive part in the centuries-old struggle to see who was going to dominate the commerce of western North America. It will continue to do so in this totalitarian age. I had never seen Mr. Carter's book till this week. But I have written over and over again my own conclusion that there is no country in all the world quite so vulnerable to attack as is our own Canada. The factors which have enabled us to feel secure since about 1865 have, in all but one respect passed away. The one exception is the British Navy.

I do not expect the British Navy to pass from the world picture. But it is worthy of note in passing that it has virtually disappeared from the Pacific, and that the United States fleet is likely to have to do likewise because it is in the Atlantic that the north life-and-death struggle is being waged.

But there is nothing which I can see to forestall an attempted Nazi attack on Canada from the north along with the Royal Navy still on the job. That, of course, is why Canada has sent troops to Iceland, Greenland and other northern points. But the little scattered garrisons which we have sent out would be no more effective than the troops we sent to Norway in the face of really determined German offensive. I believe Canada should immediately seek a formal military alliance with the United States for purposes of North American defence. The wink-and-nod understanding which we now have is pitiable in the face of the kind of threat presented by the totalitarian gangsters now operating in Europe, Africa, and Asia.

WE SHOULD make a cut-and-dried bargain with our neighbor to the south so that steps may be taken, while there is still time, to prevent the setting up of air bases which in a single morning could paralyze the productive power of this country.

In September, 1939, Rev. Maurice Sheehy of the Catholic University of Washington, and who has access to sources of information not open to all, declared as follows: "Canada will be attacked before this war is over." I think that is probable even if Hitler fails to gain an inch of foothold in his attack on Britain; and that it is absolutely and inescapably certain if the tide of war should go further against the British than it has gone so far.

ever in its military appointments, when it has chosen for the highest administrative posts men of no political influence and many Conservatives, why does the government suddenly elevate a man who gravely injured its reputation when he was in office before?

WHY SUCH THINGS HAPPEN

The explanation may be found in the power of bureaucracy in Ottawa. During the recent budget debate in Parliament Mr. Tom Reid led a vigorous attack on the growing influence of the civil service clique in Ottawa, and other members joined him in condemning it. When any member of the civil service is questioned, these members pointed out, the whole influence of the service units behind him and even governments seem powerless to resist this silent, relentless force.

A strong civil service, free of political influence, is one of the country's great needs, but it must remain the servant of the people. At a time when the service is being vastly expanded, when Ottawa is teeming with so many new bureaux, boards, committees and extra staffs that hardly anyone knows the names or purposes of them, the government will have to make sure that Canada does not get bogged down in bureaucracy, which has strangled many other nations. When a man like Gen. LaFleche has sufficient influence to emerge from under a cloud into one of the key positions in our war effort, the public will feel

Think All Should Come Under Act

The federal government's unemployment insurance scheme should be made applicable to every worker regardless of the trade in which he is engaged in the opinion of the Trades and Labor Council expressed unanimously in a resolution adopted last night.

The council took exception to the proposal to eliminate certain industrial trades from benefits of the new act. The resolution expressed also the conviction the levy for benefits under the scheme should be made on a basis of income to be equitable. It also favored provision by which any organization might make application for exemption.

The question of undue increase in rentals since the beginning of the war was further discussed, the council agreeing to compile a list of complaints received from various tenants and present this to the Chamber of Commerce with whom the council has had a difference of opinion on the question of rentals.

Aussies Protest Information Move

SYDNEY (CP)—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies' government has brought on itself a chorus of protest from men of all parties in Australia by arming Sir Keith Murdoch, the new director-general of the Ministry of Information, with sweeping war powers.

These enable Sir Keith to order publication of the ministry's statements at any length in any paper and to demand broadcasts of statements from any radio station at any chosen time, or to order the display of films in any cinema.

DERBY Eng. (CP)—Bryan Harrison, evacuee from Kent, was sitting on a fence watching trains go up a Derbyshire slope when he heard his name called from a passing troop train. His father was in the train, back from Flanders.

West Fighting Machine Impost

By CARL REINKE

OTTAWA (CP)—As solid and determined a bloc of prairie members as the House of Commons has seen in recent years is fighting the government's new 10 per cent tax on imports—especially farm machinery.

Ignoring party lines, western members have united against the application of this war exchange tax to agricultural implements, but failed yesterday, despite their pleas and criticism, to sway the government from pushing through the tax resolution as the preliminary to its being made law.

Indications, however, point to the fight being resumed with new intensity when the tax bill itself is presented to Parliament within the next few days.

Representatives of agricultural districts have been speaking for the past three days in protest against the war exchange tax during debate on the budget resolutions. Yesterday an amendment moved by E. E. Perley, Conservative, Qu'Appelle, Sask., to exempt from the tax farm implements and parts thereof, was rejected as out of order.

PRICE INCREASE

The claim of opponents has been that agriculture, already distressed, would suffer further because prices of implements of production would be increased as manufacturers took advantage of the tax.

Farmers claimed no monopoly on patriotism, but they claimed, on the other hand, a position of "reasonable equality in respect of the imposition of costs brought about by the war," said R. T. Graham, Liberal, Swift Current, Sask., as he urged exemption of farm implements and other implements of production from the tax.

The $65,000,000 expected from the tax was a substantial sum, but not when compared with the $1,250,000,000 budget. He submitted money should have been raised by increased borrowing or increased direct taxation.

"I think they (the government) would agree there are many other ways of raising this amount of money without imposing such an unheard-of tax in the manner in which it has been imposed," he contended.

As to the preservation of Canada's exchange position, Mr. Graham said he had suggested to the Prime Minister privately that the government explore the possibility of reciprocal arrangements with the United States to stabilize exchange in trade between the two countries.

CHARGES MONOPOLY

Rev. T. C. Douglas, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask., charged existence of an implement monopoly.

"The fact," he said, "is becoming increasingly evident that we are faced in this country with a great monopoly, not only national but international in scope, which has been able to control the prices on both sides of the boundary, notwithstanding the tariff."

G. H. Castleden, C.C.F., Yorkton, Sask., declared it high time "some carefully-considered legislation should replace the pass-the-buck policies which are embodied in this bill." Agriculture was a sick industry and this sort of thing would only make matters worse.

Senator Wants Canada In Pan-America Union

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada should become a member of the Pan-American Union in the opinion of Senator J. J. Hughes, Liberal, Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Hughes asked in the Senate late night whether Canada would be represented at the Pan-American conference at Havana and if not whether Canada would become a member of the Pan-American Union in the near future. Answering his own second question, he said, "I think we should."

Government Leader Dandur and said Canada would not be represented at Havana, perhaps for various reasons, the first of which was that she had not been invited. He suggested the question was such as to suggest a full dress debate.

Mr. Hughes concurred in this and said he would put his questions on the order paper.

Teachers to Aid In Registration

VANCOUVER (CP)—Offer of services by the British Columbia Teachers' Federation in the registration of citizens here next month has been accepted by the federal government, according to an announcement by HARRY CHARLESWORTH, federation secretary.

"Teachers' services will be available here both as deputy registrars and as assistants in any other capacity," said Mr. Charlesworth, "and will be voluntary."

Shores-Radials In Soccer Draw

VANCOUVER (CP)—North Shore and Radials fought to a scoreless draw in the first of a three-game series in the Province Cup soccer final under the floodlights at Con Jones Park here last night.

Radials held a slight edge in field play during the first half but missed several golden opportunities to score. Hap Smith and Johnny McKay both shot wide of an open goal in the initial period.

After the turnover the Reds put on the pressure and took complete command of the play but were unable to penetrate the tight Radial defence and the net-minding of Stan Stronge.

During the second half North Shore in turn showed little color around the goal and Jimmy Spencer highlighted the game with a hard shot which had goalie Jack Rabbit beaten easily but the ball hit the cross bar and was deflected out of play.

The three-game series is an innovation in Province Cup play, which is usually decided by a sudden-death game, but soccer commission secretary John Richardson explains that it was introduced to replace the Dominion play-downs which were canceled recently.

The second game will be played Saturday and the third the following Wednesday.

'Rosedene' Fete Nets $259 for Chapter

Despite counter-attractions in the city, the garden party held at "Rosedene," Rockland Avenue, the home of Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, the regent, yesterday afternoon proved a social and financial success, the coffers of the Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E., being augmented by the sum of $259.

Mrs. Nichol was assisted by Miss Marian Pitts and Mrs. G. Denbigh, the general convener, in welcoming the guests among whom were a number of out-of-town visitors, including recent arrivals from England. The tea tables were placed under the oak trees on the lower lawn, from which a beautiful vista was obtained of the lower rose-garden, the lily pond in the rock-garden, and the formal paved garden which is a mass of color with helianthus, zinnias, stocks and other blooms at the zenith of their beauty.

At other vantage points bingo, darts and other games proved popular, home cooking found a ready sale. In the house, bridge was played, also at the homes of other members, 23 tables being arranged in all.

The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will hold another beach party on Monday. All young people interested to be at the church at 7.30 and to bring a cup and bathing suit.

Emergency Jam Store Reaches 1,000 Pounds

The emergency stock of jam being made by Victoria housewives and to be placed at the disposal of the Victoria branch of the Red Cross grew to about 1,000 pounds yesterday, when another bee was held at the Lake Hill Community Hall, under the auspices of the Local Council of Women.

Loganberries, again generously donated by Saanich growers, and about 40 pounds of yellow plums, the gift of Mr. Salmon, were turned into delicious preserves. The work began at 9.30, and at 5 the entire supply of fruit had been converted into jam and was sealed and ready for storage.

Cooking was done by Olga Jardine, Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, Mrs. M. A. Fleming, Mrs. F. R. Jawkes, Mrs. J. H. Carver, Mrs. E. Thorne and Mrs. Blair Reid. No more jam will be made this week, but workers will go out again next week to can fruit which has been promised.

Further gifts of fruit jars were received yesterday, and jam-making will probably continue as long as the containers and fruit supplies continue to arrive.

'Casanora' Will Be Scene of Fete

The lovely grounds of "Casanora," Beach Drive, Oak Bay, the home of Mrs. Gordon Hepburn, will be opened to the public on Wednesday next, when the Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E. will hold a garden party in aid of its patriotic and philanthropic work.

Mrs. James Baker, the regent, will formally open the affair at 3. Afternoon tea will be served in the lovely garden under the direction of Mrs. Frank Baylis, assisted by members of the chapter. A home-cooking stall will be under the management of Mrs. J. Ripley, and candy will be sold by Miss N. Richards and Mrs. George Mellor.

Attractions will include a "mile of pennies," directed by Mrs. Walter Finmore; house-housie, under Mrs. A. G. Moody, and contests in charge of Mrs. Keating and Miss N. Jones. There will also be "pull the string, Molly." Mrs. R. W. Marsh will be in charge of a display of sweaters and socks knitted by members for the services.

It's Quick and Easy to make jams and jellies with CERTO

Why Certo
Jams and Jellies are made so quickly—taste so fresh and wholesome—cost so little

Much Quicker—Less Work

Jam and Jelly is made so much more quickly with Certo. For jam you need give only a one-minute to two-minute full rolling boil—for jelly, only a half-minute to a minute. Mrs. Curtis Sawyer, prizewinner at Sherbrooke Exhibition (Que.), writes: "I find the Certo method much easier as it saves so much time and fuel."

More Jam or Jelly

In this short boil very little juice has time to boil away. So you get up to half again more jam from the same amount of fruit. "I find Certo gives me nearly again as many jars of jam or jelly," writes Mrs. H. L. Johnson, prizewinner at Oxford Exhibition (N.S.).

Fresh Taste—Bright Colour

In this very short boil, you retain all the fresh, natural taste and colour of the fruit itself. Mrs. P. Milligan, prizewinner at Shannonville Fair (Ont.), says: "I get more jam or jelly and it has a better flavour and colour."

Sure Results

If you follow exactly the easy-to-follow recipes given free with Certo, you can be sure of splendid results. Writes Miss L. Miller, prizewinner at Vermilion Fair (Alta.): "I follow directions and have perfect results."

Letters to the Editor

THE WOMEN TO CAPT. PHILPOTT

To the Editor:—I feel it should be made clear to Capt. Elmore Philpott that the reason for the Air Supremacy Drive is to raise money to buy planes immediately.

Because the money now being raised by the campaign in Victoria will not go through the long, circuitous channels of taxation, the whole amount of what is collected will be available to do the maximum work at once.

Capt. Philpott should know that it is possible for planes to be purchased in the United States if the money is on hand. He should also know that every plane on the field today will put a trained man on the job that much sooner. That is why the women of Victoria have the patriotic call to get the money to get the planes now.

If our money is eventually to be conscripted, why not turn it into a fund whereby it will be used now for the purposes most important to our very existence. Before this every other campaign is secondary. All our money is useless if the Germans and all they stand for are not vanquished.

WINSOME A. BLENKINSOP.

Surprised By King

LONDON (AP)—A volunteer private "parashot," stationed on a dark southern England road last night saw a big car lurch out of the blackness.

"Halt, who goes there?" he challenged.

"His Majesty the King," replied a liveried chauffeur.

The sentry thrust his head inside the car, gazed at an erect figure in an admiral's uniform, then hastily saluted.

"It was 'im all right," he said later.

King George was on a surprise visit to a munitions factory.

Says 'Ersatz' Clam Chowder Is Good

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP)—Add cooking school notes: Clam chowder may taste better if you don't use clams.

Sea cucumbers, a marine growth found attached to rocks, pilings and other under-water obstacles, are the substitute and wives of University of Washington faculty members here are even canning them. They attain a length of three feet and are brightly colored like a rainbow.

Dr. Thomas G. Thompson, director of the university's oceanographic laboratories, extolled the sea cucumber's good qualities today. He said that one Washington State cannery near Olympia is already putting them on the market.

Dr. Thompson, who's always suspicious of seafood sources, said the chances are now 10 to 1 that "clam chowder" served in hospitals is made from them. He said he had also investigated such chowder served on three different railroads and found that sea cucumbers, not clams, were the chief ingredient.

"But that's so much the better," he added. "Sea cucumbers have a better flavor and are more easily digested than clams."

"The Chinese have been eating them for years, but they don't have the right idea. They boil and smoke them. The only way to do is to boil them for chowder or eat them and eat chowder next winter."

Under their dress-up name, sea cucumbers are known as "holothuria tubulosa." The meat is white and rather tough. The "trade" calls them "rallops."

That little black spot on the table before Mrs. Ann Scala is worth $50,000. It's the only known copy of the famed one-penny British Guiana issue of 1856, which she has loaned to the New York World's Fair. She was given the stamp by her first husband, Arthur Hind, before his death. Mr. Hind bought the stamp for $37,000 when the fabulous Ferrari collection was auctioned off by the French government, the proceeds being credited against Germany's bill for reparations. Ferrari had willed his entire collection to Germany, but had, unfortunately for Germany, left it in France when he fled at the outbreak of the war.

U.S. Democrats' Foreign Policy

No Troops Overseas But Material Aid

CHICAGO (AP)—The Democratic party's 1940 election platform, given shouted approval by the nation convention here last night, promises not to send United States armed forces to fight in foreign lands, outside the Americas, "except in case of attack," but also promises that "all the material aid at our command, consistent with law and not inconsistent with the interests of our national defense" will be extended to "the peace-loving and liberty-loving peoples wantonly attacked by ruthless aggressors."

Some of its authors said the foreign policy plank would assure a "middle of the road" course in foreign affairs and Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana declared that if adhered to, it would thoroughly protect the United States and guarantee there would be "no intervention" in foreign wars.

Before it was finally adopted, however, Senator Claude Pepper of Florida had led an unsuccessful fight in resolutions committee for a plank pledging "full aid short of war" for the democracies and "a solemn pledge" that the United States would not extend the "hand of appeasement" to dictatorships. One member said this was beaten 40 to 10.

Declared Approved By Masses of People

Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins told reporters "there is nothing in this foreign relations plank which changes by one jot or tittle the foreign policy of the President or Secretary of State."

"I refer to the present policy and the future policy," said Hopkins, who had been directing third-term activities from a hotel room here.

"I can't believe that anyone can mislead the American people on this point. The foreign policy of the President has the overwhelming approval of the people of the United States."

Final adoption of the plank by the convention came after efforts by some members of the committee to strengthen the declar-

By PETE SALLAWAY

THE PATHS of Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney have grown even farther apart with the years. While the old Manassa Mauler was busting up a wrestler the other night, Mr. and Mrs. Tunney were among the social lights applauding Lily Pons in New York. There has been talk of Dempsey and Tunney getting into the ring together for a four or six-round battle, but Gene put all such ideas to rest yesterday with the announcement he had quit the ring for all time when he retired as heavyweight champion in August, 1928.

The saddest part of Dempsey's so-called comeback is that it may encourage the old champion to slide through the ropes with someone who can fight. Indeed, Dempsey, spurred by the success of his two ventures at Atlanta and Detroit, is talking of tackling young Joe Louis following a half-dozen more preliminary tests.

Again Dempsey makes it clear he does not fully appreciate a reputation which has grown until, still living, he has become legendary.

Of course, Dempsey can't eat a reputation, but he is far from being broke, and it strikes his friends he could employ his many talents more profitably and much more safely in other lines.

Dempsey is only kidding himself as his fighting ability at 45... even against broken-down grapplers.

Nearly 20 years have elapsed since he was the Man Mauler.

"But money is what promoters are seeking, and I'm going to show them how to make it for themselves and me," he says.

You can't blame him in a sense, when 12,000 turn out in Atlanta to see him batter a helpless bonebender as old as himself. Before he hopped a plane for New York, he received 30 offers for similar affairs with local favorites... from coast to coast... from the Gulf to the Canadian border. The promoters are as silly as he is, if you can consider those wanting to make money out of their heads.

Dempsey, 13 years after retiring, drew more people in Atlanta than Louis has drawn on more than one occasion in New York.

Dempsey as a referee is a stronger box office magnet today than all the fighters with the exception of Louis and another one or two. He has been paid a higher fee and traveled farther than any other third man in history. He flew to Manila not long ago to handle a bout between Cefirino Garcia and Glen Lee.

But what Dempsey forgets is that his countless admirers turn out to see their long time idol. They don't want to see Dempsey trying to fight at 45, or mixing up with out-and-out hippodromers.

All Jack Dempsey can do in his present ill-advised campaign is tear down what it took so long to build.

All this year's all-star game proved was that pitching is still 75 per cent or more of baseball. The St. Louis show also gave some further indication that National League pitchers have caught and passed those of the American, which would put the elder circuit on top for a change.

Talk of the American having a permanent bulge was silly, of course, for fresh talent runs in cycles. It is only reasonable that with eight clubs on each side hustling material, the margin one way or the other will not be lopsided down through the years.

It was a rare combination of pitching and power that kept the New York Yankees out in front for four straight seasons.

Major league baseball is on a more even plane now that Yankee pitching has grown erratic and the attack is much less severe.

Honus Wagner and others ask help for pitchers, but there is no ground for their appeals on the record for the first half of the current grid.

Batting averages have been deflated. Two no-hitters, four, one-hitters, and 14 two-hitters is something in the way of evidence that the chuckers are managing fairly well under circumstances allegedly unfavorable.

Cleveland Indians have lost four consecutive games and regained the American League lead, all in one mysterious motion.

The Indians ascended to the top by the simple expedient of losing only one game a day while Detroit Tigers found it possible to drop two.

It took 13 innings for Cleveland to crumble beneath New York Yankees yesterday, 4 to 3. Meanwhile, Detroit dipped 8 to 3 and 8 to 5 before a capacity crowd of 32,400 fans at Boston and lost Buck Newsom with a broken thumb on his pitching hand.

Washington Senators continue to create havoc by whipping Chicago White Sox, 5 to 2, with the help of five Chisox errors. Four of them were by Eric McNair, tying a modern record for third basemen.

Cincinnati Reds squeezed past Boston Bees, 4 to 3, to maintain their margin at the front of the National League. It was the 12th triumph for Paul Derringer.

Luke Hamlin got hot again and pitched Brooklyn Dodgers to a 2 to 1 verdict over Chicago Cubs.

The six-game winning streak of St. Louis Cardinals came apart against the five-hit hurling of Hugh Mulcahy as the Phillies' star obtained a 3 to 0 shutout.

COAST LEAGUE

The steam roller from Seattle rumbled over Oakland again last night, 6 to 1, on its seemingly unstoppable route to a second Coast League baseball flag.

The pennant grab of the second-place Oaks—now 10 games behind—became a feeler thing as the relentless Rainiers softened up the opposition with two runs in the first inning.

The Oaks didn't tally until the ninth, when three hits produced a run. By that time Seattle had rung up four more, three of them in the eighth inning on three hits and an error.

Heartbreaker-of-the-week was pitched in Los Angeles, where Frankie Dasso of San Francisco held the Seraphs to three hits and fanned seven only to lose his game, 3 to 1.

The win that should have gone to Frankie went to Ray Prim of the Angels, who gave seven hits and a wild pitch.

The blow that counted was a two-run homer by Johnny Moore, Angel rightfielder, in the eighth. The mighty swat gave Prim his fifth straight conquest over the Seals.

The San Diego Padres didn't even make it interesting for Hollywood. The stars hit safely 15 times to win their second in a row, 11 to 3.

Bill Fleming made the Padres look like anything but the league's heaviest hitting team, letting them down with six safeties.

Tony Freitas of Sacramento plowed Portland under, 6 to 2. The Beavers' scores were unearned. An error by catcher Ogorowski permitted Herman Reich to come to bat. Reich made the most of it, rifting a homer that scored, the man ahead.

Athletics Hold Lead

Manager Scotty Robinson's smart-working Tillam Athletic last night established themselves as heavy favorites to finish in the top spot in the fifth cup race and get the bye in the post-season playoffs for the city baseball championship.

At Athletic Park they took the measure of Eagles by a 5 to 3 count after an interesting clash to go three full games ahead of the second-place nine wearing the colors of the feathered lodgemen. Eagles retained their second berth position. They are just half a game ahead of the Navy and Pitzer and Nex, bracketed in the third slot.

The gashouse gang and Navy have a quartette of games left to play in the Rithet Cup schedule, while Athletics and Eagles have three games each remaining.

There will be three playoff berths at the end of this schedule. While Tillam appears to be a certainty to finish first, the other three teams will have to dig in and give everything they have got during the next week or so if they hope to win playoff spots.

All wasn't plain sailing for the Athletics, who played clever ball last night. After they had set up a five-run lead in the earlier frames, Athletics had a tough time of it fighting off a dangerously pressing Eagles club in the first of the eighth. The birdmen really meant business in this frame and it wasn't until four hits had been poked out and three runners across the home plate that Robinson's crew was able to clamp a lid on the rally.

Tom Rooney was the star of the Eagles in the eighth. He poked out a home run with two mates on the sacks to account for the three and only runs of his team. All told the birdmen collected nine hits from the slants of Lloyd Cann, Tillam's speedball thrower. The eighth was the only frame when he showed weakness.

Stan Davies turned in a fine performance for Athletics on the hill, yielding but four blows. He breezed four batters. Clubmen got two of their runs in the second and added three more in the seventh.

Heading the evening's batting parade was Reg Patterson, Eagles' first baseman. In four trips to the plate he hit two doubles and a single. Art Chapman slammed out a three-base knock and Rooney and Patterson of Eagles hit for two bases.

The Victoria line-up for Saturday's two-game program against Port Angeles at Athletic Park, in the opening games of the Hon. John Hart Cup series, was announced last night. Games will be at 2:30 and 6, with the local team as follows:

Noel Morgan Al Condon, Charlie Strouger, Lorne Murray, Barney Barnswell, Ray Casey, Ted Maitland, Charlie Restell, Art Chapman, Jack Blake, Steve Dunn, Tommy Rooney, Massa Kuwabara, Reg Patterson, Ray Maitland, Lloyd Cann, Duff Wardell, Russ Richardson, Stan Davies, Les Stobo and Patrick. Players are asked to be at Royal Athletic Park not later than 1:30 o'clock.

Second Division baseball games slated for tonight at 6:15 are as follows:

Cedar Hill Athletics vs. Navy, Beacon Hill, upper diamond; umpire, Bert Nex.

Cubs vs. Eagles, Beacon Hill, lower diamond; umpire, Kuwabara.

Wilkie Leads All Coast Loop Hurlers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Aldon Wilkie of Seattle hung up his ninth straight victory as against no defeats and remained at the top of the Pacific Coast League pitching record in games played through Tuesday.

The sensational southpaw still shares the limelight with two teammates, however. Little Dick Barret has won 13 and lost but three, and Hal Turpin has scored 16 wins as against six setbacks.

after covering first base on Ted Williams' slow roller in the fourth inning of the first half of the doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox.

Despite the pain, Newsom remained in action and faced five more batters before he retired the side.

Plan and Winch agree with Eddie Marino, Hostak's pilot, that it's hard to coax anybody into the ring with a puncher.

Plan and Winch insist that Zale will take the title back to the midwest and at the same time prove that his 10-round nontitle win over Hostak in Chicago last winter was no fluke. The loss generally has been blamed on Hostak breaking his left hand in the fifth round, but the Plan-Winch chorus intones that Tony was shellacking the champion prior to the maiming of the mauler.

Marino and Hostak both blame the loss on the hand, but says it's well knifed "stronger than ever now," and that tomorrow's tiff will end in Zale getting knocked out.

Bays-Alerts Scrap Tonight

Two well-balanced and powerful box lacrosse outfits, James Bay and Alerts Service, will take the floor at the Willows Sports Centre this evening to continue their close fight for the city senior championship. They will meet in the feature half of a double-bill.

Boxla night has been switched to tonight instead of tomorrow night to give the Bays a chance to rest up for their tussle with Nanaimo stickhandlers in the up-island city Saturday night.

Tonight's engagement promises to provide fans with plenty of ding-dong action as they will again be fighting for the leadership spot. From both camps comes word that full-strength teams will be in uniform.

The preliminary game will bring together Owl Drug and Douglas Tire in the opener at 7. The main game should start about 8:30.

Teams follow: Alerts—Gawley, Harding, Ferguson, Carney, Bisschager, Brown, Cockin, Price, McDonald, D. Coates, Pickford, Williams and N. Coates.

Collapses As Referee Halts Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry Armstrong isn't fighting machine he was a year or two ago, but he still is plenty good.

The beating the busy little Negro gave lightweight champion Lew Jenkins in a non-title bout under the Polo Grounds lights last night was a masterpiece in brutality. Every move of his brown body was calculated to lead to the climax between the sixth and seventh rounds, when Jenkins slumped senseless from his stool.

Few of the 23,000 spectators realized what a terrible going-over the slender Texas had received. Some were surprised when he collapsed, when Referee Donovan called Armstrong to ring centre to lift his glove.

But in his dressing room, Jenkins still was so dazed it took him some time to realize how his downfall had come. The battered 135-pound king continued to ask whether he had been counted out. It required all the persuasion of his manager, Hymie Caplin, to get him calmed down.

For the first three rounds, Armstrong scarcely laid a glove on his tense, savagely-punching opponent. But for the next three rounds he was poison, and Jenkins' doom clearly was sealed from that terrific left hook that caught him on his sharp chin and dumped him to the floor.

DOWN SIX TIMES
In all, Jenkins was down six times; once in the fourth, twice in the fifth and three more times in the sixth, when he was so weary he could last only spasmodically by instinct. The third time he went down in the sixth he wasn't hit, but simply fell from a right he aimed at Armstrong and missed.

When the round ended he stood backed against the ropes, a pitiful expression on his bloodied features, his eyes blank. He was led to his corner and placed on his stool, but after a moment he tried to rise and, instead, went to his knees, his bushy head nearly touching the canvas.

PRELIMINARIES
Paco Villa, busy little Mexican brawler, got the program under way by punching out a four-round decision over Sammy Vent, of Brooklyn. Villa scaled 127½. Vent, 129.

Leo Rodak, cagey lightweight from Chicago, left-handed his way to a six-round decision over Johnny Bellus, of New Haven, in the main preliminary. Rodak scaled 137 to Bellus' 128½.

Jackie Donovan, Buffalo youngster, continued undefeated as a pro-fighter by coming off the floor to stop Izzy Redman, tough Brooklyn belter, in the fifth round of another six-rounder. Donovan weighed 149½ to Redman's 156.

Armstrong, Jenkins Each Get $24,984
NEW YORK (AP)—Lew Jenkins, lightweight boxing champion, today received $24,984.63 as balm for the beating lightweight king Henry Armstrong gave him at the Polo Grounds last night.

Armstrong received the same amount, plus $419.85 for transportation from his Los Angeles home.

With the Forces B.C. Officials See Units at Work

Premier Pattullo and Hon. C. S. Leary, Minister of Public Works, made a tour of the local fortresses and military training centres yesterday and expressed themselves highly satisfied with the steady expansion of the services.

"I did not realize we are so well defended," commented Capt. Leary. "I'm sleep better at night now."

They were accompanied by Col. Vincent McKenna, Col. J. M. Lightbody and Capt. Hobart Molson, visiting all phases of military activity.

They saw the Canadian Scottish in camp, saw the Work Point establishment and visited several of the fortresses which make up the coast defences.

Word has just been received of the promotion of a local boy, Sandro Bullock-Webster, in the Royal Marines. He is the son of

LIEUT. SANDRO BULLOCK-WEBSTER

Major and Mrs. L. Bullock-Webster, Linde Avenue. He joined the Marines in September, 1938, as a probationary 2nd lieutenant and has now been promoted first lieutenant. Educated at St. Christopher's, St. Michael's and Monterey grade schools, he graduated from Oak Bay High School and Victoria College. He is at present serving in a flagship.

VICTORIA MILITIA FULL

Victoria is lagging slightly behind the mainland in starting the organization of its militia units, but indications are this will be soon remedied when the recruiting drive for the 3rd Battalion, Canadian, Scottish, gets under way next week.

In Vancouver men of all walks of life have flocked to take part-time training. The Seaforths, B.C. Regiment (D.C.O.R.) and Irish Fusiliers have already completed their battalions. The Westminister Regiment also has its second battalion practically up to strength.

The same applies to the permanent units and some commanding officers have already given orders that only category A men will be taken.

Col. Brooke Stephenson of the Third Scottish said today he will have his permanent officers' organization complete this week-end and hopes to have the battalion recruited within a week.

Clark was the son of Mrs. M. A. Clark, Shirley. The search for his body is continuing.

FIND ROWBOAT IN WHICH BOY LOST

Recovery of the rowboat in which Ronald Clark, 14, lost his life Tuesday night when it capsized off Sooke, was reported to the British Columbia Police yesterday.

The report was made to police by the Silver Eve, uncle of Clark, who made a systematic search of the shoreline after the tragedy.

The boat was found near the mouth of Tugwell Creek, not far from the scene of the drowning. Meanwhile David Anderson, 14, companion of Clark's who swam 1,000 feet in the rough seas to reach shore, had fully recovered today.

Clark was the son of Mrs. M. A. Clark, Shirley. The search for his body is continuing.

Bill Studied

Text of the federal government's unemployment insurance bill will be closely studied by the provincial cabinet, Premier Pattullo said today.

The Premier noted the reports that a large proportion of British Columbia workers are excluded from the measure because of the exemption of the logging, fishing and agricultural industries.

He said he would discuss the matter with his colleagues before making further comment on the bill.

HOLD FIGHT PURSES

NEW YORK (AP)—The purses of both Henry Armstrong and Lew Jenkins, fistic rivals in the Polo Grounds last night, were ordered held up by the New York State Athletic Commission today.

The commission, without explanation, summoned Armstrong, Jenkins, Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, and Mike Jacobs, promoter, to appear tomorrow.

Jacobs said he didn't know the reason for the action, but thought it was possible the commission simply wanted both Armstrong and Jenkins to post $1,500 forfeits to assure that each will make his next title defence in New York state.

Forerunners of the provincial by-election in the riding next fall, 17 elections commissioners were named for Mackenzie riding by the government today. The seat left vacant by the death of J. M. Bryan is to be filled before the Legislature meets.

Annual field day of the Victoria section of the British Columbia Historical Association will be held on Saturday 20 at Goldstream Canyon. Cars will leave the Metropolitan Church corner at 3. The gathering will take the form of a box picnic and members are requested to bring their own thermoses as it is feared, owing to the prospect of dry weather, that it will not be possible to obtain a permit for a picnic fire. B. A. McKelvie will address the gathering on the historic Goldstream gold rush, and members will be able to visit the actual spots where mining took place.

Need Volunteers For Registration

Regulations covering the national registration were received today by Sydney Child, the Victoria registrar, who immediately started setting up the local organization.

He will want hundreds of volunteer deputy registrars to assist in the job of national stocktaking.

The B.C. Teachers' Federation has already offered its services. They have been accepted, and Victoria teachers will take part. Mr. Child said he will get down to details of his organization early next week. The set-up is to be complete by August 1 and it is proposed to have the registration in a three or four day period about the middle of August.

The precinct system of the federal voters' list is to be used as a guide, but there will not be so many divisions. Precincts will be grouped and a central registration station established for each group.

Regulations state it is not essential that a person must register in his own precinct, although as far as possible this will be done.

Registration is the duty of each individual. There will be no canvass of homes. A person who fails to register is liable for a fine or prison term.

Everyone over 16 years old must register.

Ask Recognition Of Bakery Union

Question of the jurisdiction of a board of arbitration to consider a disagreement between a union and an employer over recognition by the latter of the union was raised as Bakery Salesmen, Local 189, B of T.C.S. & H. opened an arbitration hearing against Rennie & Taylor Limited, in the Courthouse here today.

Members of the board are Edward A. Jamieson, district president of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council, appointee of the union, G. A. Cameron, appointee of the employers, and Judge H. H. Shandley, chairman.

Birt Showler, secretary of the union, assisted by Ernest Holmes, presented the case for the employees, with Earle Hale representing the employers.

The hearing results from failure of the union employees at Rennie & Taylor Limited to achieve agreement with employers on an agreement covering working conditions. Today's hearing boiled down to a question over the union's insistence upon recognition by the employers.

T. P. McConnell, secretary of the Master Bakers' Association, an employees' organization, told the board Rennie & Taylor had no objection to the men forming their own individual union and approaching employers as such, but that the company would not recognize the wider union, an A.F. of L. member.

Gordon Robert Law, accountant and assistant to Wm. Rennie, at present ill in hospital, stated the Vancouver branch of the bakery chain to which Rennie & Taylor Limited belongs, had recognized the union. His concern declined to take such action in the belief it could handle its own problems with the men.

"You realize you own the job and are in a powerful position to make the men like your decision," remarked Mr. Showler.

Question over the nature of the dispute — specifically if union recognition could be considered by the board as a dispute under the government labor law — was raised by Mr. Jamieson.

The issue was left in abeyance, and Mr. Hale gave wage figures, showing Rennie and Taylor employees in a very favorable position. Rennie and Taylor workers were quite happy and had no complaint, he said.

If they had no complaint, the board would not be sitting, Mr. Jamieson said.

The board considered agreements and counter proposals submitted by the employees and employers, Mr. Cameron taking exception to Mr. Showler's reference to an agreement drafted by him for Mr. Rennie as a "yellow dog agreement."

Judge Shandley suggested that the Victoria union men could call on Mr. Showler or any one else to represent them in any negotiations with the owner, as the act stood.

Such procedure, said Mr. Jamieson, would leave an opportunity for intimidation.

The hearing was scheduled to continue this afternoon.

The city fire department today attended a grass fire at Beach Hill Park and a beach fire at the foot of Wildwood Avenue.

The department also attended a call to a truck damaged by fire early in the morning at the Island Freight Company premises.

Tennis Stars Have Passport Troubles

SEATTLE (AP)—Several California, Oregon and Washington tennis players participating in the Washington State net tourney here want to continue north for the western Canada, British Columbia and Duncan meets, but they're netting their shots on the international border.

The players aren't worried about getting into Canada — it's getting back.

They've been told they must have birth certificates or official papers of some sort in order to return to the United States. Few if any of them brought such papers along.

Joe Livengood, tournament chairman here, said affidavits of citizenship were being prepared. "If the authorities honor these for passage across and back, there will be many American players in the Canadian meets. If not, I guess there just won't be any."

Summer School

Must Crush German Ideals

The people of Europe loved all that came from southern Germany, but always feared what came from northern Germany, Dr. Bernard Beirmann, professor of political science at Seattle College, told summer school teachers at the Victoria High School this morning in an address on "The German Problem."

Dr. Beirmann delved deep into German history, going back many centuries. The south of Germany — Austria — he said, was the cultural, political and economic centre of Germany for 600 years. In fact everything that was good in Germany came from the south. Even after Prussia declared war on Austria in 1866, after which the south emerged separated from the German empire, Austria continued to flourish in a cultural way, Dr. Beirmann said.

"Prussia, on the other hand, has always been militaristically inclined," the professor continued, "and is the only country in Europe that owes its very origin to war and militarism."

"Prussia," he said, "must be destroyed... must be exterminated. I do not mean that the people should be wiped out, but the ideals they stand for and the Prussian spirit must be cleaned out."

"Germany has invaded countries, small and large... countries of higher culture than herself... she has done it treacherously and violently and therefore illegally and today presents a menace to the Empire, the world and civilization," the professor said in conclusion.

MAINLANDERS PLAN ISLAND HOLIDAY

Many British Columbia mainland residents who in the past went south for their holidays, are arranging to see Vancouver Island this year, according to inquiries being received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Regulations making it necessary for Canadians to have passports to gain entrance into the United States and the difficulty of obtaining funds to spend south of the border, has resulted in thousands of Canadians this year changing their plans to travel their own country.

The publicity bureau reported today that 60 per cent of the inquiries being received now for publicity literature dealing with Victoria and the island are from the mainland, chiefly from Vancouver and New Westminster. Many of the persons writing to the bureau ask where accommodation is available at island resorts for their entire holiday periods.

Inquiries are also being received from prairie people who are coming west via the Big Bend Highway and wish to visit the island, which has been widely publicized throughout the three prairie provinces.

FALLS 15 FEET THROUGH CEILING

H. M. Aitken, a roomer at the Salvation Army canteen, suffered injuries this morning when he fell 15 feet through a ceiling from the canteen to offices of Johnston and Company, 1314 Broad Street.

He was assisting in cleaning up the canteen and was about to remove rubbish from between two joists below a skylight. He stepped on the laths between the joists and crashed through to the office below, where he landed on the floor, just missing a large metal heater.

He was taken to the Jubilee Hospital in the city police ambulance and attended by Dr. L. L. Plak, house doctor. He suffered a shoulder injury, the extent of which was not known pending X-ray examination.

HOPALONG CASSIDY AT RIO TODAY

Action, thrills, romance, blended as "Hopalong Cassidy" fans have come to expect, in a story of the efforts of ranchers to build a railroad spur which will make it unnecessary for them to pay cattle tolls to a greedy land baron, are offered in the latest Clarence E. Mulford's adventure-thriller, "Range War," showing at the Rio Theatre today.

William Boyd, cast again as the straight-shooting, hard-riding "Hopalong," has an assignment in this picture which is tougher than any he has ever faced.

HOPE AND GHOSTS COMING TO CAPITOL

Spooks to the left of them, spooks to the right of them, Paulette Goddard and Bob Hope, go after ghosts with gags in one of the merriest mystery stories of the season at the Capitol Theatre Saturday. It's Paramount's "The Ghost Breakers."

Cleverly directed by George Marshall from a well-planned screenplay by Walter DeLeon, it gives Bob Hope ample opportunity to ad lib at the expense of the wisest assortment of uncanny goings-on ever assembled. Dressed in the latest fashions that display her gorgeous figure to perfection, Paulette Goddard is an eye-ful.

Action is the keynote of "The Ghost Breakers." From the very first moment when Paulette finds that she has inherited a haunted castle on an island off Cuba, until she finds out why it was haunted at the end of the picture, not a moment is wasted. It is only natural that two people united in solving such a thrilling riddle should gradually drift into romance, although they are thrown together accidentally in the beginning.

CAPITOL THEATRE
James Cagney's newest starring picture, "The Fighting 69th," is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. In "The Fighting 69th," he shares starring honors with Pat O'Brien and George Brent, with a featured cast including Jeffrey Lynn, Alan Hale, Frank McHugh and dozens of others.

Cagney's name on the star list usually guarantees a good rousing action story, and "The Fighting 69th" is no exception.

DOMINION BOOKS
"IT ALL CAME TRUE"

The Dominion Theatre's next attraction, opening on Friday, will be "It All Came True," based on the Louis Bromfield novel and starring Ann Sheridan, the red-headed Texan dynamo who has become Hollywood's most outstanding feminine personality, combining, as she does, the "omph" with dramatic fire.

Playing one of the most delightful characters ever created by Louis "Rains Came" Bromfield, Ann is at once bold and beautiful, hot-tempered and honest. She is sentimental but is the last person in the world to admit it.

With the quaintness, charm and dramatic suspense of the Bromfield novel, "It All Came True" tells the story of a group of people who live in a New York boarding house run by two sentimental old women, using it as a refuge where they can fight off the reality of the present and dwell in the fond memories of the past.

CANADIAN DRAMA SHOWING AT PLAZA

Richard Arlen and Andy Devine, close friends and pals during more than 15 years of screen work, have the costarship roles in Universal's "Man From Montana," thrilling drama of the Canadian northwoods, now playing at the Plaza Theatre with Kay Sutton, Anne Gwynne, Reed Hadley, Addison Richards, Joseph Sawyer and Jerry Marlowe. The story presents Arlen as a young trapper who is unjustly accused of murder and thrown into jail. Devine portrays the Canadian Mountie who comes to his aid and helps bring the real criminals to justice. Ben Pivar was associate producer on the picture, which was directed by Christy Cabanne.

Sunny Sooke Ideal for a Holiday

The district of Sooke is a vacationland complete with everything to please the visitor from white sand beaches to mountains. It is within a few hours distance of Victoria, yet so situated it seems to be miles and miles away.

The two main highways—East and West Sooke Roads—are very picturesque. Following the trails of old horse and buggy days, they wind up over the hills and down into the valleys. Beautiful farms, lovely country homes, glimpses of the snow-capped Olympic Mountains, the blue of the Straits of Juan de Fuca, all add enchantment to this summer land. The roads end on either side of Sooke Harbor, an almost landlocked inlet of the sea. Connecting the two highways at the end of the harbor is the well-known Gillespie Road with its dusty-strewn meadows, groves of tall trees and fern-shadowed streams.

The trails of Sooke lead exploring vacationists to many wonders of Nature. Amongst these, the potholes along the Sooke River are well known to visitors as well as to many Victorians. The trail to the top of Mount Shepherd too, is well worth the effort. On a clear day a panoramic view of the whole Sooke countryside, the Olympic Mountains, is the hiker's reward. For the fisherman, Sooke Harbor, Sooke River and the many other streams in the district, offer splendid sport.

CHARMING COUNTRYSIDE INNS

Sooke is fortunate too, in having many outstanding resort hotels and charming countryside inns. The visitor will find each one, whether in East or West Sooke, modern and up-to-date in every way. Woodside Farm in West Sooke has made many friends down the years. A big white farmhouse of many windows and wide verandas, in a rolling acreage of green lawns, spreading shade trees and old-fashioned flowers, Woodside is noted for a charming hospitality and for the air of friendliness that surrounds it. Rooms are large, spotlessly clean and airy. Meals are delicious with fresh farm produce a specialty. Dainty afternoon teas are served. There is a private beach on the property and many trails through the woods to explore. For a restful holiday, Woodside is an ideal spot.

In East Sooke there is Sea-Girt, another pretty farmhouse inn, situated in a beautiful acreage of fruit trees and woodland, sloping right to the water's edge. In the inn there is a restful living-room and a number of airy bedrooms. Home cooked food, wholesome and good, is a delight to every visitor. There is good swimming, boating and fishing.

On the Gillespie Road, high on a tree-shaded hill overlooking Sooke Harbor, is Grouse's Nest, the resort with an ideal view and a charm that is difficult to describe. The inn is on a hillside, the garden bright with flowering shrubs and perennials, slopes down in a series of terraces to the beach. Along the shore there are cottages and cabins for those who wish such type of accommodation.

Modern Barbecue Right in City

A little over a year ago the Cat 'n Fiddle Barbecue opened an attractive new style eating place, just a few blocks north of the Hudson's Bay Company on Douglas Street. In the year it has grown in popularity until it now fills a big place in the lives of many Victorians and of visitors who appreciate good food.

Designed to serve the public with barbecued sandwiches, light lunches, afternoon teas and delicious chicken dinners, the Cat 'n Fiddle is open at all hours. It is completely modern, with long French windows facing out to the street. These windows are covered with Venetian blinds, making the dining-room airy and cool on the hottest days. A part of the dining-room can be partitioned off for private parties if so desired.

Car service is another feature of this popular barbecue. The passing motorist can be served quickly and effectively right at his or her car.

The Cat 'n Fiddle has an up-to-date kitchen, spotlessly clean and fully equipped. Only white help are employed. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Etheridge, the proprietors, stress this point and wish to emphasize that their kitchen is open to inspection at any time.

Mountain Flowers Bloom Now On Forbidden Plateau

Now is the time to make that long-planned visit to the Forbidden Plateau. The trails are open and the mountain flowers are in full bloom. The air is sweet with the perfume of the heathers and so clear it is possible to see for many miles.

The Forbidden Plateau has so many interesting features it is hard to list them all. There are strange rock caves and volcanic formations. Rare mountain plants; stretches of lush alpine meadows; tall trees on the hill-sides stretching far toward the blue sky. Lakes and streams filled with fighting Kamloops trout. The famous Red Snow on the high peak of Mount Albert Edward. Crulchshanks Canyon, where rock ramps make a straight drop of many thousand feet to the valley below. Over all the mystery and romance of Indian legend and story.

The City of Courtenay is the gateway to the Forbidden Plateau. From there two routes lead to this famous mountain playground. Both are well traveled and perfectly safe.

CAMP RIGHT ON PLATEAU

The Dove Creek Trail is 11 miles long from the end of the motor road. It leads direct to Croteau Camp situated on Lake Croteau in the very heart of the plateau country. Here, Mr. E. His aim is to be courteous to everyone, to provide wholesome, well-cooked meals and to take care of all requirements for a successful outdoor holiday. For sleeping accommodation, spring beds are provided under canvas in convenient proximity to the main camp, yet with adequate privacy for each party. ## All-Sooke Day

George Florence Wins Baby Show; Fine Events

A crowd estimated at about 5,000 — boys, girls, men and women from all over lower Vancouver Island—packed the Sooke River flats yesterday in gay picnic mood.

It was All-Sooke Day — the seventh annual celebration of the progress of Sooke—and from the enthusiasm shown in the long program of events and contests offered, it was one of the most successful outings ever held.

The celebration, held under the patronage of Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber and Mrs. Hamber, started at 12.30 with a program of sports. Many picnics were at the grounds from early morning though, to enjoy a long day in the outdoors.

The program opened with novelty and serious races. There were jumping contests, horse shoe pitching, logging events, water sports, tug-of-war contests, and the feature of the day, the Times baby show.

In addition there was a miniature midway with coconut shies, the Sooke gold rush, refreshment stands and other booths.

The two barbecue pits—one for salmon, the other for beef—had their regular All-Sooke Day boom. In charge were S. Lyle, A. Robillard, Edward Underwood, Ralph Strong, Jack Wood and Alec Manzer.

Much of the crowd remained after supper for the closing dance which was held in the large Sooke Community Hall near the flats. Dancing was enjoyed to the music of Bert Zala's Orchestra.

GEORGE FLORENCE BEST BABY

Nine-and-half-month-old George Florence, smiling, blond curly-headed baby of Mr. and Mrs. George Florence, 3469 Bathurst Avenue, won the Times Cup as the best baby from any rural district of Vancouver Island entered in the annual baby show.

Runner-up to baby George was another boy, Robert Webster, 11 months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Webster, 826 Seymour Avenue. Robert's father is a quartermaster-sergeant in the R.C.O.C.

Best-behaved baby in the show was Jimmy Hunt, 17-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hunt, 3840 Rowland Avenue. Jimmy's dad is also serving with the forces.

Jimmy made a big hit with the crowd which gathered around the prize presenting platform later in the afternoon. When Alderman Archie Willis of the Times, who made the presentations, lifted him high in the air so everyone could see him, Jimmy clapped his hands along with his admirers and gave everyone a big grin.

Best Sooke baby girl was 14-months-old Mary Janet McMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McMillan.

Best Sooke baby boy was chubby David Reimer, 8-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Reimer. David's father was overseas in the last war and is now residing in Sooke.

Mr. Willis was introduced to the gathering at the presentation by C. A. Helgesen, chairman of the executive committee of the Sooke Community Association, sponsors of the day. Mr. Willis congratulated each mother and mentioned the fact that most years, girl babies were the prize winners. But the boys walked away with the honors this year.

"Perhaps we should have the fathers bring the winners up to the platform," he laughed. Judges for the show were Dr. Russell Robertson of Victoria, and Dr. J. Brown of Sooke.

LOGGING SPORTS POPULAR

Because Sooke's livelihood is provided mainly by the woods and the sea, the logging and water contests had a big place in the program.

Ed Robinson of Sooke, carried off the Sooke branch of the Canadian Legion Challenge Cup for chopping the fastest through a 16-inch tree using a spring board. Robinson was winner of the event last year. He made the winning cut in four minutes eight seconds. Harry Helgesen was the only other contestant. Robinson was presented the V.I. championship cup by Ernest Todd.

Helgesen repeated his success of last year and the year before in the log rolling event. He retained the Sooke Community Association Challenge Cup presented to him by Capt. B. Colthurst.

He rolled the log which weighed approximately 400 pounds, up a three-foot high ramp with a peavie in 10 seconds. Alan Brodie was second, carrying out the feat in 11 seconds.

E. Sundberg of Ladysmith, cut through a 28-inch log in one minute and 31 seconds to win the bucking event. It was his third successive win in the contest. He retained the Sooke Community Association Challenge Cup which was presented by Captain R. W. McMurray.

Mrs. W. Cook won the women's nail driving contest. Second was Mrs. H. Black and third, Mrs. G. Martin. First award was the Sooke Community Cup presented by Capt. B. Gadsden. Other prizes were given.

Abraham Joe of Westholme, won the log birling event after a stiff tussle with several other contestants. He was awarded the P. W. de P. Taylor Challenge Cup, presented by Mr. Taylor, for the win.

Kenneth C. Drury, editor of the Times, presented Don Gray, Vancouver, the Sooke Community Association Challenge Cup for winning the half-mile open race.

Champion horse shoe pitcher of the day was T. W. Spencer. He won the Little and Taylor Challenge Cup presented by E. V. Finland, M.P.P.

WIN TUG-OF-WAR

The tug-of-war contests attracted a good deal of interest with the Elder Logging Company repeating its performance of last year by carrying off the Colonist Challenge Cup for rural districts only. The eight-man team also won the Vancouver Island championship and received the Sooke Community Cup, and the lower island championship cups were presented by Mrs. Alan Chambers on behalf of her husband who is in Ottawa attending session of parliament and G. Hamilton Harman.

The husky loggers won the Colonist Cup in a pull against Soke, Chemainus and army pulled in the first heat of the island championship with the up-island team winning. After an intermission Chemainus and Elder Logging competed. The loggers won two straight pulls. In the lower island contest they beat Sooke again.

The Victoria Girls Drill Team gave a smart marching performance which was loudly applauded.

Results of other contests follow:

Swimming race for men of the services, Hugh Francis; broad jump open, F. Brookland; high jump open, Don Gray; ladies' novelty spoon and peanut race, Mrs. Cyril Carter; men's relay race, 400 yards, for challenge cup and four medals donated by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd., Bill Clarke, Bill Towell, Rolly Dodwell and Frank Brookland presented by Lieut. Ball of Otter Point; and 220-yard race, open to service men only, Bdr. H. R. Orchard.

Inspector R. Owens of the Provincial Police made a presentation to Horace Goodrich, retiring president and founder of All-Sooke Day, on behalf of the Sooke Community Association.

Chairmen of the various committees in command of the details of the celebration were as follows: C. A. Helgesen, executive committee; Joe Collins, finance; George H. Jones, prizes; Robert Acreman, athletic committee; Harold Pontious, dance committee; A. P. Brownsey, publicity; S. L. Shields, grounds and property; Capt. P. W. de P. and Mrs. Taylor, reception; F. Gray, F. Rumsby and F. Thornber, catering, and A. F. Brownsey, secretary.

Life of Sir Walter Scott
—AUTHOR'S FAME LIVES TODAY

Sir Walter Scott lived in the time of Napoleon Bonaparte. Napoleon was the terror of his day. Leading armies from place to place, he conquered one country after another. Europe was drenched in blood, as it has been of late. Hitler is no more of a terror today than Napoleon was 130 years ago.

Sir Walter Scott in his study.

One country, above all others, stood out against Napoleon: Great Britain would not bow before his cannon. In the end Napoleon was brought down, losing the Battle of the Nations and the Battle of Waterloo.

Some persons think of a man who shows skill in using brute force as "great." He may cause the death of millions of human beings, but if he wins his way, those persons class him as "a great man."

Napoleon's memory lives to this day, but so does the memory of a man whose work was with the pen. Sir Walter Scott lies in a very real way in his poems and novels. If a vote were taken I think almost everyone would say it was better for Scott to live than Napoleon Bonaparte.

Scott's novel, "Tahoe," is part of the course in English in thousands of high schools. Like "Kenilworth" and "The Talsman," it brings scenes of the Middle Ages before the reader.

Not only was Scott a great writer; he was also a great man. This he showed clearly when the fearful blow came to his personal fortune. As one of the partners in a printing firm which failed, he shared in a debt of $600,000. His partners could pay nothing, so he shouldered the debt by himself. He told the creditors that if they would wait, he would pay the money.

Then began the hardest work of his life. Quickly he wrote new novels; and his payments for them used to pay the debt. In two years he paid almost $200,000.

Overwork led to illness, and the illness was so severe that he could write no more. In his last years, the thought of "payment in full" seems to have been in his mind almost constantly.

At the age of 61, he died at his home near the Tweed River. Although he had not finished the payment, the rest of the debt was cleared by money obtained through the sale of copyrights for his books.

HOROSCOPE

Friday, July 19

This is a doubtful day in planetary direction, but benefic aspects appear to dominate. It is a fortunate day for aviation which will now attract increasing attention.

Women are under favorable aspects late today when they will benefit through social contacts. The evening is lucky for love affairs, but not promising for romance that begins on this date. This is an unlucky date for letter-writing or for signing any sort of a contract.

Bankers and capitalists are subject to adverse influences. The stock market is to play strange tricks. The unaccountable will happen in the world of business. Surprising events in Europe will cause repercussions in this country.

Bulgaria is to be prominent in the news. Alliance with other powers may prove unsatisfactory to the people. Here as in all other countries the growth of subversive activities will be widespread and have serious possibilities. The Russian bear is to nap slyly while awaiting chances to use his claws. The autumn is to bring better conditions for the British government, but an epidemic of gastric influenza is forecast.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of steady advancement in their chosen careers. The young may find service in military organizations or the Red Cross.

Children born on this day probably will be reserved and individual. They may be original and clever but self-centred and critical.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—After working my way half through college, because I am ambitious and desired a college education, I gave it up and went to work to earn money because I had fallen in love with a girl. This girl has no desire for knowledge or interest in it. She is very vain, always bragging of her admirers and how beautiful she is when, in reality, she is only moderately good-looking and entirely too fat. She is jealous and suspicious of me, accuses me of being unfaithful every time I have to stay downtown at night to work. Doesn't trust me for a moment when I am out of her sight. I see her faults with an open mind and have decided to call quits to all romance until I find a girl whose faults I don't see. What do you think?

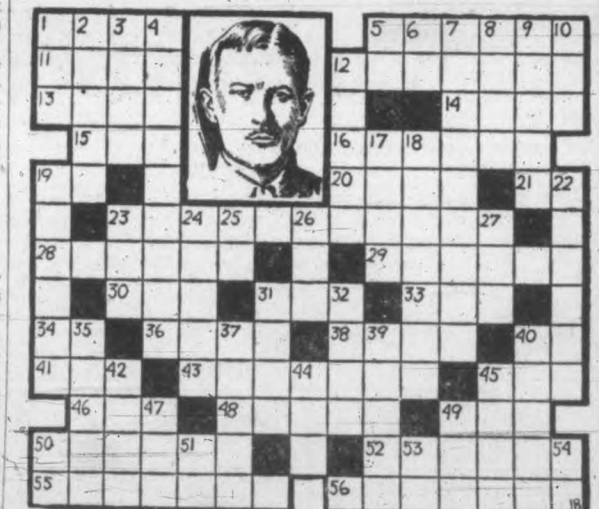

ANSWER—I think either a man or a woman is lacking intelligence when he or she takes a mate who is jealous and suspicious. All married happiness is built on faith.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Our mother loves us and we love her, yet she is our enemy. We are a large family, from young to old, and married. We never get along. Half the time not speaking to each other because our mother has made trouble between us. She is jealous of our affections. The children are never allowed to visit the others who live away from home, and she is a perpetual nagger.

She has never cared how our home looked. The furniture sitting anywhere it was put, always dirty dishes and a musty odor, and she looking slovenly around the house. She would like for us to have friends, but after boys and girls visit our house once they never come back, and she wonders why her children leave home as soon as they are old enough to get away. She calls herself a "modern" mother. If she is a modern mother, give me the old-fashioned kind.

ANSWER—Undoubtedly people judge children by their mother, and one who is slovenly and bad tempered and quarrelsome is not a good advertisement for her brood. I have known more than one marriage that was broken off by the young man's first visit to his girl's people.

SMALL SHIP LOST IN AIR ATTACK

LONDON (CP)—The Eire Information Bureau announced last night the 1,350-ton ship City of Limerick was lost in an air attack off Cape Ushant Monday.

The vessel was carrying a cargo of fruit from Cartagena to Liverpool.

Two of the crew were lost and the others landed at a southern English port.

Although operated out of Dublin, the City of Limerick, a small passenger ship, is listed by Lloyds Shipping Register as sailing under the British flag.

Cape Ushant is 27 miles northwest of Brest, France, a key point in the old British blockade of Brest in the Napoleonic wars.

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP)—Capt. Zebulon Tilton, sea tar who is "just beginning to live" at 74, abandoned his beloved schooner, the Alice S. Wentworth, temporarily yesterday in order to make his first airplane flight.

Business in connection with his schooner's cargo was to have kept him here from Monday until Saturday.

The captain's frequently postponed wedding attracted national attention.

800 EXCURSIONISTS VISIT IN VICTORIA

With 800 excursionists, the Union Steamship Company's coastal steamer Lady Alexandra, Capt. E. Suffield, arrived in the Inner Harbor at 12.30 today from White Rock, and tied up at the Canadian National docks.

Her visit here is an annual affair, under auspices of Surrey Municipality. She will leave this afternoon at 5.30 on the return voyage.

G. A. Rushton, traffic manager of the Union company at Vancouver, is among the passengers.

CARRIER HEADS NORTH

SAN DIEGO (AP)—En route to the Puget Sound naval yard for three months' overhaul, the aircraft carrier Lexington is due here July 27 from the Hawaiian Islands. Naval officials said the big vessel would anchor in Coronado Roads to debark her aircraft squadrons and flight personnel before weighing anchor for Bremerton.

TO BUY FERRIES

SEATTLE—With a view to providing improved ferry service on Puget Sound, particularly to Bremerton, Capt. Alex. Peabody, president of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, has entered a bid in San Francisco for the last five ferries of the defunct Southern Pacific's Golden Gate transbay service.

Navy officials have interested themselves in the disposal of the ferries because expansion of the Bremerton Navy Yard will require additional service between there and Seattle.

The steam ferries for which Capt. Peabody is bidding are the San Mateo, Shasta City, City of Sacramento, Callista and Napa Valley. Last week he bid on six other vessels—the Stockton, Fresno, Redwood Empire, Lake Tahoe, Mendocino and Santa Rosa.

Strong pressure has been exerted by civic groups in San Francisco to halt the sale of all 11 ferries. It is contended the vessels are needed there to fill an urgent national defence need and to provide stand-by service for the bridges.

22-year Low Turnover

NEW YORK (AP)—Sellers and buyers were equally shy in today's stock market and leading issues limited price changes either way to inconsequential amounts.

The list got off to a sluggish start and dealings frequently came to a full stop for lengthy intervals during the remainder of the proceedings. The turnover of around 220,000 shares was the smallest for a five-hour session in 22 years.

A hopeful symptom was seen in the scantiness of offerings. The disinclination of holders to dump stocks was taken to mean that the business picture still retained most of its brightness, although some expressed doubts regarding any further exceptional bulge.

Stocks receiving a little support the greater part of the day were U.S. Steel, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Patino Mines, J. C. Penney, N.Y. Central and International Harvester.

B.C. Canned Salmon Shows Big Increase

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sockeye salmon canned in British Columbia up to July 15, showed an increase of more than 14 per cent over the 1939 figures at the same period, according to statistics released by the Dominion chief inspector of fisheries here today.

The government figures showed that 79,784 cases of sockeye have been packed by canneries, as compared with the 69,583 total for the same time last year. The figure is under the 91,628 case-total of the same period in 1938, however.

Although sockeye canning was up, total cases packed of all kinds of fish dropped slightly, from 113,569 in 1939, to 111,542 to date this year.

Main reason was a decline in blueback packing, which slumped to less than half of the 1939 total, dropping from 25,687 cases at the same time last year to 12,417 in 1940.

Large factor leading to the drop was the dispute between canners and fishermen, which delayed large-scale operations by a week after opening of the season.

DUTCH SHIP SAILS

SANDUSKY, O. (AP)—The Netherlands freighter Prins Willem II, tied up here since June 3 because of a sailors' dispute, sailed last night for Montreal with a crew augmented by Canadians.

Capt. Christian A. Van Der Eyck nosed the 2,500-ton vessel into Lake Erie after the Canadians arrived to replace 12 crewmen now held in Detroit for possible deportation to a Netherlands possession. Eight of the original crew sailed.

Counsel for the sailors attached the vessel in an effort to obtain $1,900 in wages claimed due. Van Der Eyck termed the wage dispute a pretext to prevent sailing for Canada for fear of internment.

The attachment was dropped following word from invaded Netherlands that families of the crew had received their share of wages as provided for in contracts.

Will Name Warships

OTTAWA (CP)—Warships being built in Canada for the Royal Navy will bear the names of Canadian wild flowers, the Munitions and Supply Department announced last night, to differentiate Canadian-built ships from those constructed in Britain.

Clipper at Auckland

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP)—The American Clipper arrived here from San Francisco today, inaugurating a new Pan-American Airways fortnightly trans-Pacific service. The route completes an alternative air route between England and Australia and New Zealand and replaces the Empire route suspended because of the war.

The Clipper landed at 3 p.m. (7.30 p.m. Wednesday P.S.T.). The 42-ton craft left San Francisco last Friday for the 8,008-mile journey. She took off yesterday from Noumea, New Caledonia, on the final 1,124-mile leg of the flight.

22-year Low Turnover

NEW YORK (AP)—Sellers and buyers were equally shy in today's stock market and leading issues limited price changes either way to inconsequential amounts.

The list got off to a sluggish start and dealings frequently came to a full stop for lengthy intervals during the remainder of the proceedings. The turnover of around 220,000 shares was the smallest for a five-hour session in 22 years.

A hopeful symptom was seen in the scantiness of offerings. The disinclination of holders to dump stocks was taken to mean that the business picture still retained most of its brightness, although some expressed doubts regarding any further exceptional bulge.

Stocks receiving a little support the greater part of the day were U.S. Steel, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Patino Mines, J. C. Penney, N.Y. Central and International Harvester.

Through the efforts of local and other investors an area in Turner Valley is being developed very much larger than seven major oil fields in California.

The first well our clients became interested in has produced 600,139 barrels, and paid Royalty Holders $4,460.83 per 1 per cent since September, 1937.

WE OFFER, SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE, A ROYALTY COVERING A WELL THAT WILL BE COMPLETED IN ABOUT 30 DAYS.

IF THIS WELL COMES INTO PRODUCTION AND IS PERMITTED TO PRODUCE AN AVERAGE OF THE THREE NEAREST WELLS, AND PRESENT PRODUCTION IS MAINTAINED, THE PURCHASE PRICE WOULD BE RETURNED WITHIN ONE YEAR. FULL PARTICULARS UPON REQUEST.

There are many who believe that the field's economic daily capacity will be taken in an attempt to stop as much as possible the importation of oil.

The three wells referred to are not producing at capacity and increases are expected shortly. Four wells have recently been brought into production. (In all four wells Victorians are interested and will receive substantial monthly payments.) EVERY DOLLAR placed by us in Royalties (the Bonds of the Oil Industry) in Turner Valley is securing a monthly return.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Despite confirmation of 250,000 bushels of flour worked for export yesterday to the United Kingdom, only a few trades in wheat futures were recorded on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Trading remained lethargic, following the trend of the past few weeks, which is believed due to uncertainty regarding the government's wheat policy.

Conditions remained the same in the coarse-grain pit, with some domestic support on the part of mills and southern houses taking some rye. Price range was narrow.
